NANCHANG OFFICER VICTIMS FREED AT LAST

"Are We All Right?"—"YES"

CUBA COMMUNIST THREAT

WILL FIRE ON AMERICAN FORCES

REVOLUTIONARY OFFER

Havana, Sept. 7.

Threats by the Communist leaders in Cuba are giving rise to acute anxiety in Washington and among the American community in Havana.

The Revolutionary Government Council, composed of the leaders of the coup d'etat staged by soldiers, sailors and policemen, who seized control of the army and navy and placed the officers under arrest, announces its willingness to resign if the people desire.

The Communist Central Committee, however, is reported to have agreed to organize resistance to any sort of intervention. It is stated that they will fire upon the United States forces if they land "in order to show the world that Cuba is not an American colony."

MORE WARSHIPS.

Two more destroyers have been ordered to Cuba from Newport and the destroyer, Overton, has been ordered to the Isle of Pines where the American Colony fears an outbreak among the two thousand convicts in the model prison there.

It is noteworthy that the last revolution has the support of the powerful students' group and the ABC society, spearhead of the revolt which ousted the Machado regime.

Enlisted soldiers and sailors who have seized control of the army and navy have placed machine guns at all strategic Havana intersections.

WOMEN WIELD CLUBS.

"We won't relinquish control until a truly revolutionary government has been established in Cuba and then the command will be given back to the officers," Sergeant Balaguer stated.

He said the trouble arose over a proposed reduction in pay and dissatisfaction of the soldiers with the change in command.

At Santiago groups of women armed with clubs scoured the city attacking strike breakers as several Communist-organized strikes created disorders. Two civilians and one soldier were killed in a gunfight early in the day.

The army took possession of the streets, firing frequently to clear traffic and several persons were thus wounded.

POLICE SERGT'S POST.

Police Sergeant Angel Gonzalez has been chosen as Havana's chief-of-staff.

Meanwhile General Machado, recently ousted by revolt after eight years as president of Cuba, has arrived in Montreal, where he declared he was willing to return to Havana and stand trial on the criminal charges filed against him and several members of his cabinet.

"I am willing and even eager to go back to Cuba and stand either a military or civil trial if Cuba gives me a guarantee of my personal safety," he said, adding he had "no fear of any orderly investigation."—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S GESTURE

NEW SILK DUTIES SUSPENDED

HOPE FOR SIMLA AGREEMENT

London, Sept. 7.

Proposals for the upward revision of duties upon silk and artificial silk have been suspended in view of the forthcoming Anglo-Japanese discussions.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in a letter to Sir George May, chairman of the Import Duties Advisory Committee, points out that circumstances have now arisen in which the Government is of opinion that it is desirable that the revision of the silk duties contemplated by the 1933 Budget shall be deferred.

Mr. Chamberlain adds that the Government feels that the prospect of a satisfactory outcome of the discussions at Simla between Britain, India and Japan might be seriously prejudiced by any changes for the present in such duties.

PAST PRECEDENT.

In connexion with commercial negotiations with other countries this year, the Government has, in the same way, considered it desirable to postpone decision upon recommendations made by the Import Duties Advisory Committee.

Sir George May has replied accepting the Government proposal to suspend consideration of an increase in silk duties for the present.—Reuter.

H.M.S. CORNWALL LEAVES

SIMPLE DEPARTURE CEREMONY

Amid the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" and "Rolling Home to England," and the cheers from the personnel of the warships in Harbour gathered on the North Arm of the Naval Dockyard, H.M.S. Cornwall left Hongkong this morning flying her pennant-off pennant, for re-commission and refit.

The North Arm was lined with officers and Bluejackets who as the Cornwall left her buoy sent up three hearty cheers. The band of the South Wales Borderers was also present.

The warship is due to arrive at Portsmouth on October 24.

WEARY AND WORN BUT CHEERFUL

OVER FIVE MONTHS IN CAPTIVITY

SAFE AT PANSHAN

Newchwang, Sept. 8.

After more than five months in the hands of bandits and pirates, harassed by constant movement from place to place, again and again in dire peril when their captors collided with rival bands or with Manchukuo troops, the three British officers of the s.s. Nanchang were released yesterday and arrived last night at Panshan.

No record of their nerve-wracking experiences is yet obtainable, but they are cheerful enough, though carrying the tale of hardships about them.

The officers concerned are

Mr. Clifford Johnson, chief officer of the Nanchang,

Mr. W. E. Hargrave, second officer,

Mr. A. D. Blue, second engineer.

WEARY AND RAGGED.

Worn, ragged, and worn with anxiety as the result of their prolonged captivity, but showing the true British spirit of cheerfulness, the three kidnapped officers of the B. and S. ship Nanchang, were brought safely to Panshan by Captain Obata, chief of the Japanese gendarmes at Newchwang, at nine o'clock last night.

The ex-captives, who are suffering from suppurated mosquito bites, said nothing of their experiences, but expressed gratitude at the successful combined efforts of the Japanese and Manchukuo authorities, resulting in their happy release.

JOY OF RETURN.

Questioned as to their condition, the officers exclaimed "Are we alright?" and then shouted gleefully in unison "Yes."

Owing to their late return, the three officers are remaining at Panshan until the morning, when they will take train for Newchwang, where the British Consul, Mr. Clark, and the commander of the destroyer, H.M.S. Whitehead, are waiting to receive them and to congratulate and extend thanks to their rescuers.

CURIOUS COINCIDENCE.

Residents of Newchwang are waiting with personal and medical comforts to attend to their welfare.

By a curious coincidence, the three officers were released on the anniversary of the capture of Mrs. Muriel Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran. The liberated captives are expected to arrive in Newchwang at 7 a.m. on Friday.—Reuter.

A message received by private sources in the Colony this morning confirms the information from Reuter. The message states that the officers were released yesterday, that all are well and that they are due to arrive in Newchwang this morning.

TROOPS GOING UP FROM FOCHOW

NO NEWS FROM YENPING

Local advices as to the Fukien situation are very meagre but the general feeling is that little progress has been made.

It was learned this morning that no report from Yenping has been received for two days, but a statement from Fochow was to the effect that troops were being moved up from the port yesterday.

INDEPENDENCE OF PHILIPPINES

THE PLEBISCITE

ACCEPTED IN MANILA

Manila, Sept. 6.

The plebiscite resolution which has aroused so much discussion during the past week was finally passed last night.

The action of the House in passing the resolution paves the way for the discussion of the plebiscite bill and other pending measures. The resolution which will be taken by the Senate in two or three days has no other intention than to provoke discussion of the Haves-Cutting act by the legislature.

London stated that if it were not for the plebiscite resolution the merits and faults of the Haves-Cutting act could not have been discussed by the members of the legislature.

The entire week's debate on the resolution was full of mud-slinging wherein former colleagues in the House heaped personal charges upon each other.

The three-day speech of Mr. Delgado was packed full of accusations against the mission members and defended stoutly the stand of Senate President Quezon.

The plebiscite resolution providing for a plebiscite prior to action by the Philippine legislature on the acceptance or rejection of the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act follows:

TEXT OF RESOLUTION.

"Whereas, all the members of the present Legislature have been elected under a mandate to work for an immediate, complete and absolute independence of the Philippine Islands;

"Whereas, the Hare-Hawes-Cutting Act does not provide for immediate, complete and absolute independence and the provisions thereof are not in accord with the specific instructions sent by the Philippine Legislature to the Ninth Philippine Commission, and

"Whereas, in accordance with the true principles of democracy, no action should be taken by the agencies and servants of the people contrary to the latter's express mandate without first obtaining the people's sanction thereof;

Resolved, by that Senate and House of Representatives of the Philippines in Legislature assembled and by the authority of the same: That a plebiscite be held to find out the actual desire of the Filipino people before the Philippine Legislature takes action on the acceptance or rejection of the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act.

The wedding is announced to take place shortly at Mr. Charles Bertram Eastbrook, electrical engineer, of the China Light and Power Co., Ltd., 25, Moke Audrey Margaret Street, 25, Hankow Road.

AUSTRIAN CRISIS

OPEN TALK OF A NEW DICTATORSHIP

PRINCE CONVERT TO FASCISM

Vienna, Sept. 7.

A dictatorship in Austria, based on Fascist lines, but having no direct connexion with the Nazi movement, is now envisaged in Austria.

Prince von Starhemberg, the Austrian Heilmwehr leader, broadcasting on his return from Rome, hinted at a change of government in the near future.

He declared himself highly satisfied with the results of his visit to Rome. He was satisfied that Austria could count on unlimited Italian support.

The Prince added he had returned full of enthusiasm for Fascism, which he believed to be the only system suitable for Austria.

A dictatorship under Prince von Starhemberg, or under Major Fey, the Minister of Public Safety, is now being openly mentioned as an alternative to the Dollfus Government.—Reuter.

NEW SPEED RECORD

BY AMATEUR MOTOR CYCLISTS

London, Sept. 7.

In the Isle of Man to-day the Manx Grand Prix Motor Cycle Race was won at the fastest speed ever reached in an amateur race by H. L. Daniell, on a Norton machine, at 76.88 miles per hour.

J. Swanton was second at 75.9 miles per hour, and J. Muir, third at 75.11 m.p.h., also rode Nortons. Speeds of over 100 miles per hour were reached but riders could only negotiate some of the hairpin corners at ten miles per hour. The race was contested over a mountain course of 226 miles. Until to-day the amateur record for the course was 71.9 m.p.h.

VINES SENSATION

AGAIN GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT

IN THREE SETS
TO GRANT

PERRY WINS

Forest Hills, Sept. 7.

The process of dethroning Ellsworth Vines from the position of being the world's best tennis player, actually started by Jack Crawford in Australia last year, was completed to-day, when the holder of the United States title, and former Wimbledon champion was ousted and beaten by Bryan M. Grant in the fourth round of the American National Championship.

There has been no bigger sensation in first class tennis since Nigel Seton beat Henri Cochet in the first round at Wimbledon in 1931.

Bryan Grant is the smallest player in the tournament, and won through his versatility. He attacked Vines' backhand with mixed chops and volleys. Vines was sluggish and did not play anything like a champion.

Grant, ranked No. 15 in the present American list, and No. 12 and 10 respectively in 1931 and 1930, literally toyed with the tall Californian for three sets, beating him by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

But this was not the only shock in to-day's programme.

QUIST'S FEAT.

Jiro Satoh, Wimbledon semi-finalist was eliminated by Gregory Mangin, America's No. 7 player after a five set match; whilst Adrian Quist, the Australian accomplished his finest performance since leaving Australia early this year, by accounting for Wilmer Allison, No. 2 ranking player in the States, in straight sets and with the loss of only six games.

Jack Crawford got through after a stiff two-hour battle with Sydney Wood, who took him to four sets and fourteen games in the final set.

Frank Shields got through comfortably against Nunoi.

MCCRATH LEADS.

The match between McGrath and Clifford Sutter was brought to an end by darkness with McGrath leading 3-1 in the final set. Crawford will play the survivor on Saturday.

The quarter-finals will see the players clash as follows:

Bryan Grant	v.	Stoefen
F. J. Perry	v.	A. Quist
F. X. Shields	v.	G. Mangin
Crawford	v.	McGrath or Sutter

Vines apparently suffered a lapse similar to that experienced against Austin in the Davis Cup tie. Nine games was all he could take.

SATOH ALWAYS TRAILING.

Mangin was always a set ahead of Satoh, winning the first and third, and although it was generally expected that the Japanese would repeat his performance of the previous day once he had levelled up in the fourth set, it proved to be otherwise. Mangin captured the fifth set losing but two games.

Quist was dazzling against Allison, who never recovered from an indifferent start. The Australian literally ran away with the match, conceding one game in the opening set, three in the second set and two in the third.

H. G. N. Lee was rather disappointing against the giant Stoefen. The American's whirlwind service followed up by a sound volleying campaign, completely broke up Lee's game. The Englishman lost the first set to love, and although winning four games in each of the next two sets, did not look capable of extending Stoefen.

Perry went close to defeat in his match against Gledhill. The American played cleverly to regain lost ground after Perry had

HEATH FIRE BATTLE

THREE COUNTIES INVOLVED

PLANES ENGAGED IN TASK

London, Sept. 7.

Many beautiful stretches of country have been defaced by the disastrous heath fires which broke out in Surrey and Hampshire two days ago, and are still spreading.

Strenuous efforts are being made to keep the outbreaks under, by the digging of trenches and the employment of all available men in beating out the flames, but as fast as one blaze is subdued another breaks out elsewhere.

Only a heavy downpour of rain will relieve the authorities of Surrey, Hampshire and Kent from strict vigilance.

Further fires broke out to-day in various parts of the Downs and caused considerable damage. The troops have given invaluable services in fighting the flames and both aeroplanes and wireless are being employed in keeping track of the outbreaks.

At Hartford Bridge Flats, a plantation three miles square has been destroyed.—British Wireless.

QUIET WEDDING

DR. UTTLEY AND MISS HELEN MAHY

At St. John's Cathedral this morning, the wedding was quietly celebrated between Dr. Kenneth H. Uttley, M.A., and Miss Helen Mahy, two regular members of the Hongkong Government Medical Department.

The bride entered the Cathedral on the arm of Mr. Basil H. Church, M.C., by whom she was given away, Mrs. Beryl Church being Matron of Honour.

The Rev. E. C. H. Tribbeck attended the bridegroom as best man. After the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Uttley received the congratulations of a few close friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Church, leaving later in the morning for Macao where the honeymoon is being spent.

the extent of capturing the subsequent two sets.

But Perry refused to be rattled, and calling up his reserves made short work of the fourth and fifth sets.

Scores as supplied by Reuter were:

U. S. CHAMPIONSHIP.

Fourth Round

Bryan Grant (U. S.) beat Ellsworth Vines (holder) 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.
G. Mangin (U. S.) beat J. Satoh (Japan) 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.
L. R. Stoefen (U. S.) beat H. G. N. Lee (Britain) 6-0, 6-4, 6-4.
A. Quist (Australia) beat V. Allison (U.S.) 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.
F. J. Perry (Britain) beat K. Gledhill (U. S.) 6-2, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3.
F. X. Shields (U.S.) beat H. Nunoi (Japan) 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.
J. Crawford (Australia) beat Sydney Wood (U.S.) 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARL HARNISH, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, married DICK HADLEY, construction superintendent. He wants her to give up her job but she refuses. Eve does not want her employers to know she is married so they keep the marriage secret several months. At Christmas they announce it. They spend a brief vacation at the home of Eve's parents.

Back at the office MARYA VLAD, fashion artist, and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer, greet Eve excitedly. Eve knows that MONA ALLEN, the new copy writer, dislikes her and is trying to cause trouble for her.

Eve and Dick invite several friends to a New Year's party at their apartment shortly before time for the guests to arrive the telephone rings.

CHAPTER XVI

Eve cupped her hand over the telephone and turned to Dick. Her shoulders dropped.

"Dick," she said, "it's Mona Allen! She says her boy friend can't bring her and she wants me to send someone for her. What shall I tell her?"

"Tell her to stay at home," Dick answered with twinkling eyes.

Eve, nervous and tried, pleaded in a stage whisper for him to drive over for Miss Allen. "She says it's only in the 100 block, drilling, and I hate to offend her for office reasons."

With a shrug he agreed. Later he had ample opportunity to regret the decision. He sat waiting in the reception room of the boarding house where Mona Allen lived for what seemed hours. However, when she finally came down the stairs Dick felt his grievance leaving. She looked childlike and her round blue eyes lifted in an innocent expression as she slipped her arm through his and tripped along on her dainty spike heels to his room.

The other guests had all arrived

when Dick and Mona reached the apartment. Eve had been forced to receive them alone and Dick saw that she was displeased. Mona had scored once more and Eve resolved not to forget it.

But there was no time then to give to such thoughts. Eve turned to her other guests and sought to lift the restraint which they seemed to feel at being together socially after a long period of purely business contact. Their diffidence soon yielded to the charm of their surroundings, however. Eve had made the most of the spacious living room. Tall white cathedral tapers furnished the only illumination. The lovely, old ivory mantel was banked with evergreens and snowberries. At each end stood one of the low brass candelabra that were Irene Prentiss' wedding gift and lighted bayberry candles diffused their fragrance throughout the apartment, carrying the spirit of the holidays.

Before long three tables of bridge were in progress. Arlene assumed the leadership here but, try as Eve might, she was not able to persuade George Bliss to join the same group. Again it was Mona Allen who interfered with Eve's plans. It seemed Miss Allen told fortunes. At the time bridge was announced Bliss found his hand being stroked and a softly purring voice coaxed him to sit down and have his future predicted. Bridge was a poor bait in the face of that, Eve thought, as she watched the by-play and tried to help Arlene. Arlene, lovely in velvet of deep iris blue, kept watching the couple and had to be reminded often that it was her turn to play.

George Bliss had always felt that his was a sympathetic nature and an affectionate disposition, but he had not realized how much he craved companionship until this soft-voiced blonde girl in Chinese red chiffon told him so. Bliss found himself confiding to Mona Allen some of his innermost thoughts, his likes and dislikes, even his thwarted ambitions and future plans. It required only a few artfully-put questions on her part, but he thought she read it all in his hand. With the greatest reluctance he relinquished his place to jolly Mr. Connors, super-salesman of electric appliances.

But Bliss remained within earshot of Miss Allen and could not be enticed far away, although she read the palms of half of those present. The others, she promised, she would read "the next time."

Marya was escorted by her fiancé, to whom she had been engaged for a year and a half. Eve found herself liking this young man instantly. She knew it was their plan that after marriage Marya should give up commercial art in order to paint more ambitiously. Ray had brought his violin and played selections from several operas. Marya, in violet crepe, smiled serenely whenever his glance swept hers.

Before 12 o'clock Eve and Dick served the buffet supper and the guests formed cozy groups about the small tables. Mona Allen, however, managed a tete-a-tete with Bliss at a tiny table for two.

A discuss on o' current events arose around the supper tables and Eve was proud of her well-informed husband. Dick who thoroughly read several technical magazines each month, had definite knowledge of scientific developments still in the formative stage.

This wild, joyous peal of New Year bells cut in on their conversation.

"Happy New Year!" everyone cried out at once. Then there was silence as they paused to listen to the shrieking blasts of factory whistles. Somewhere a cannon went off into the night and Mona Allen arose and called out, "On with the dance!"

Before Dick could dial the radio to a suitable number Mona was in Bliss's arms and they were dancing gayly. Later Bliss escorted her home and Arlene's smile trembled a little when the couple left.

The guests had gone. Standing by the fireplace and looking wistfully at Dick, Eve said softly, "Love me?"

"Love you," declared Dick firmly, holding her close.

"Nice party?" asked Eve, rumpling his hair with her slim fingers.

"Good party," he agreed and kissed her smooth forehead.

"Then you don't mind about the antiques, do you dear?"

"They're nice, of course, but I didn't know you intended to buy them and I wondered just what you were going to use for money."

Eve's manner froze. She had not expected this. "I'll pay for them," she answered flippantly.

"I'm afraid you'll have to, Eve," answered Dick frankly. "You see the car needs overhauling and I planned to have it painted, too."

"That's a good idea. I've been ashamed of that car for a long time," Eve interrupted.

"And there's my insurance due in January," Dick went on, "besides the amount I will need to save out for the future."

"Save—save—save! If I had a lot of money I'd spend—spend—spend," Eve answered. "I don't see why we have to save all the time."

"Well, you may some day," Dick answered. "And maybe because of saving now you will be able to spend—spend—spend later. I'd enjoy that myself. Well, thank heaven, the rent is paid anyway!"

But of course it was not paid. Eve had spent the money. Antique dealers do not customarily ship furniture to strangers until it has been paid for. Hence it was up to Eve to pay the rent from her own salary. And her entire cheque should have been applied on her account at Bixby's that month.

She saw no way clear but to do the one thing for which Dick would never have forgiven her. She went to Mrs. Brooks and explained that, without his knowledge, she had spent the money Dick had given her for the rent. She arranged to pay one-fourth of the amount each week during the month from her salary. "Eve was forced to trust Mrs. Brooks' discretion, yet she was often uneasy when she considered that the landlady might inadvertently let Dick or some one else know what had happened. She could only hope Mrs. Brooks would keep her secret."

Her account at Bixby's remained a problem. It was fortunate for her that Dick had never asked Eve what became of her earnings. So far since her marriage it had taken all she could accumulate to pay for her trousseau. This, too, she would never want Dick to know, since he shared her father's aversion to going into debt for finery.

This was January, 1929. It was well for Eve that she did not know what the year ahead had in store for her and Dick, of the rift one short year would bring in their marriage.

THE THEATRESThe current attraction at the Queen's Theatre, "The Billion Dollar Scandal," will continue its run till to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.The film is a melodrama, dealing with a sensational expose of a gigantic swindle, conceived and perpetrated by a group of men high in the financial and executive councils of the American government. Based on a play called "The Truth Racket," it tells how the whole crooked structure, carefully built up by this group, crumbles when one apparently unimportant man—a massur and gym teacher—dares to tell the truth.The role of this man, Fingers Partos, is played by Robert Armstrong, who heads a stellar cast composed of Constance Cummings, Olga Bacanova, Frank Morgan, James Glenison, Irving Pichel, Warren
Hynes, Frank Albertson, Hale Hamilton, Dorothy Peterson, Ralf Harolde, Berton Churchill and Sidney Toler.
Harry Joe Brown directed."Dangerously Yours"Warner Baxter and Miriam Jordan, who made her recent film debut with him in "Six Hours to Live," also together again in "Dangerously Yours," Fox Film production which has its first showing to-day at the King's Theatre.Also prominent in the cast are Herbert Mundin, popular comedian, Florence Eldridge, Florence Roberts,
Nella Walker, Will Davidson, Arthur
Hoyt, Tyrell Davis and Mischa Auer.
"Dangerously Yours" was adapted for the talking screen from Paul Hervey Fox's novel "Holiday."Briefly it revolves around the adventures of Baxter in the role of suave society crook and Miss Jordan as a detective employed by an insurance company to protect its clients' levels from such men as Baxter.
The girl sleuth sets a clever trap only to be outwitted and shanghaied aboard his yacht in which he puts out to sea. Eventually, she falls in love with the man she is supposed to bring to justice, and her solution of the problem is said to supply a surprising denouement to this fast-moving story.Frank Tuttle, whose most recent productions were "This Is the Night" and "The Big Broadcast," directed "Dangerously Yours.""No Other Woman"Many a woman who stands by her husband in the lean, hard years, scurrying and sacrificing, often loses him to an alluring young dame after he acquires worldly success.That he doesn't have to stay lost, especially if the wife is clever, is proven by "No Other Woman," RKO-Radio Picture coming to the Central Theatre to-morrow.Irene Dunne, Charles Bickford and Gwili Andre from the eternal triangle in this drama which depicts the rise of a steel mill worker to opulence.But for the enterprise and desire of the wife to go away from the grime and glare of the steel mill, the husband would never have been anything but a steel worker—and the best steel worker in the company, true, but always sweating in the heat of the furnaces!With wealth comes leisure—time to notice other women—time to play—opportunity to get into mischief.
Then trouble, separation, divorce, and a wife and mother's tremendous sacrifice to hold her own!"The Cisco Kid"When Edmund Lowe as Micky Dunn, the cavalry sergeant, makes a personal issue of trailing and capturing Warner Baxter who portrays
C. Henry's colourful Mexican bandit,
"The Cisco Kid" at the Oriental Theatre on Friday and Saturday, he parallels one of the most exciting exploits in the annals of Western law enforcement; the arrest of Agostino Chacon by Burton Mossman, Captain of the Rangers of Arizona, the very locale of the present picture.Chacon led the worst band of runners in the West. He was not at all like the courteous caballero represented by Baxter but a complete cut-throat. Mossman knew he could not get at the Mexican by ordinary methods, so he determined to join his guerillas and bring him in single handed."It's Great to Be Alive""It's Great To Be Alive," the new musical production from Fox starts
Sunday next at the King's Theatre.
It is reported as a rollicking romance, with one of the most unusual plots ever unfolded on the screen.The story revolves about the possibility of all the men of the world being removed—except for one who at the moment, is a castaway on a desert island. The millions of women all over the globe, realizing that here is an alarming situation, set about to rectify it. What actually occurs, is said to be the basis for more hilarity than has been seen in many a month.Raul Roulien, star of the South American stage and screen, makes his debut in this picture as a full-fledged Hollywood star. He has been playing in Spanish productions at the Fox studio, but will be remembered by many as the romantic traveller who played opposite Janet Gaynor in "Delicious." In "It's Great To Be Alive," Roulien has the more-than-enviable role of being the one man wanted by every woman in the world.
The cast in support of Roulien, includes Gloria Stuart in the feminine lead, Edna May Oliver as the famous scientist, Robert Mundin in the leading comedy role, Dunn, Dorothy Burgess, Emma Dunn, Edward Van Sloan and Robert Greig. One hundred of the most beautiful women in Hollywood are seen in the picture in which the full figure of feminine pulchritude reaches 1,000."Fog O' My Heart"Sure, and it's grand entertainment, is "Fog O' My Heart." All the Irish whimsy of the famous stage play has been deftly captured in the making of the new MarionDavies picture which comes on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre.
The charm and hoyden, capriciousness of the little Colie lass we knew so well in the theatre when Laurette Taylor played in it have been carefully retained by Miss Davies in her splendid performance.
Onslow Stevens, a comparative newcomer, is the leading man in the film and gives rise to expectations that he will forge his way to an individual niche on the screen. He iscertain of a strong following, judging from the easy negotiation of his first important role.
"Up For the Derby" is an important role in "Up for the Derby," the latest Sydney Howard masterpiece, and this charming young British actress, possessor of a delightful naturalness of manner, gives a charming performance.
Sydney Howard as a jockey, gives a victorious comedy performance.ambling through the excellent comedy situations with that famous wide-eyed expression of his and rollicking manner.
This film is most aptly released
Derby week and affords some excellent scenes of the actual Derby, filmed during last year's great race when appropriately enough, that master of sophisticated comedy, Tom Walls, won the Classic with April Fifth.

VISCOUNT GREY
OF FALLODEN

The death of Viscount Grey of Falloeden leaves a gap in the ranks of Britain's elder statesmen that will be well-nigh impossible to fill, removes a man for whom an honoured place is preserved in political history. His appearances in public during the closing days of his life were comparatively rare, but his influence never waned for he was a man who never postured, who was universally trusted and admired. If we wish to find another European statesman of equal stature and similar candour, fair-mindedness, directness of speech and abhorrence of mere sentimentalism, we are obliged to go back to an earlier Englishman who was also in his day Foreign Secretary, Canning. Most foreigners these days are surprised to learn that Canning was a Conservative. His European reputation made him the idol of such Liberals as Heine. In Viscount Grey's case there is no incongruity between his foreign and his domestic records to explain away. He was all of a piece—a British Liberal as well as a European Liberal, Canning without Canning's ambition and weakness for intrigue, as clear-minded, as lucid in his speech and as courageous and tenacious in pursuit of his aims and with the same rare gift of being able in a controversy to put himself in his opponent's place. It was this gift which secured for him the triumphs of the Balkan Conferences of 1912 and 1913, compelled acquiescence in the agreement which his broad-mindedness dictated. As Prince Lichnowsky afterwards said, here was the justice of a judge. The all-roundness of his view left no loophole for disagreement, and certainly less for any accusation of an unfair bias. Everyone who heard him speak in the House of Commons was acquainted with this overwhelming impression of candour which gained him his high reputation in Europe, which permitted him to appear in the most hostile councils and remain the most powerful figure. The remarkable thing was that he conveyed this impression of largeness of mind with so little apparent effort, with, in fact, the quiet force of all natural things. His enemies could never believe it, regarding it rather as an ingenious form of the old cunning usual in diplomatic negotiations, and making a profound mistake which perhaps contributed to the calamities which befell his country.

transparently honest men that ever lived, carrying with his honesty of purpose an air of impersonal authority, again concealing a fund of warm and human jollity. No one better earned the tribute of the description the most English man of Englishmen. The cares and burdens which fell upon his shoulders after the war, he bore with a spirit which never once faltered. We fear that Britain may wait long before she sees

NOTES OF THE DAY

WATER RATIONS

Water restrictions has been increased in severity, but there will be few who will cavil. The situation is almost unprecedented. A fortnight ago, the Colony was enjoying a full supply in all districts. To-morrow, on the island, residents will perforce settle down to a regime of six hours' supply daily. The steps have been as drastic as they have been swift, but no sound criticism can be offered. The restrictions merely indicate that the Government has learned the lessons of adversity; the community must to the same. Official figures reveal the startling fact that the amount of water in storage in the island reservoirs is 250,000,000 gallons less than in September, 1928, when the shortage caused a real water famine in the following spring. Assuming the calamity of no further rain 1,500,000,000 gallons may have to last us for nine months.

KOWLOON'S POSITION

Kowloon is scarcely any better off, though Shing Mun may prove useful in an emergency. The total water in storage in Kowloon is 661,977 million gallons. Despite restrictions during the last five days of August 317 million gallons were consumed during the month. If Government had permitted that rate of outflow to continue, the entire supply might have been exhausted by December. Four or five years ago, with Kowloon reservoirs nearly full, the situation would have caused little anxiety, but the rapid growth of the population, now estimated at over 317,000, means that drought has to be prepared for and that strictest caution must be exercised at the least sign of difficulty.

NO "LET-UP"

It will not be for the want of trying that the Great American Industrial Experiment will fail. General Hugh Johnson has now presented the Coal Code, which provides conditions for the workmen which would have been almost unbelievable three years ago. The economic theory—and it is a new economic theory—and it is a new economic theory—is based on the belief that industry must provide for the purchase of the goods it produces. This means that instead of turning quite so large a share of profits back into more capacity to produce, it must give a larger share to labour as wages and to the consumer in equitable prices. Only thus, it is held, can overproduction be avoided. This theory is logical. Whether America can prove it in the gigantic scale now being attempted is uncertain. It is a bold experiment. But a hopeful one. For in its sound business coincides very evidently with social justice. The higher wages and shorter hours which employers mean better distribution of purchasing power and an assurance of markets mean to employees better homes and more opportunity for self-development.

THE GREAT ESSENTIAL

If this experiment in the better management of the machine succeeds, it will show not only America but the world a way to employ for the use of men and women the great abundance which is now a clog in the industrial system. But no economic theory, no machinery of recovery, however noble in plan and vigorous in operation, will of themselves fulfill the aspirations of the American people. They might take the nation back to 1929. Or even forward to a somewhat sounder prosperity. The reform of the economic system is ultimately a reform of the human heart. Unless it is, new ways of oppression will develop, new ways of evading the blue eagles' benevolent eye. Unselfishness that is enticed by hope of profit or dragged on by government decrees may be better than the old exploitation expressed in "business is business," but the great value of this American revolution is going to appear in the unselfishness which comes from a voluntary desire to make industry Christian.

CUPID TOLD TO 'MOVE ON'

Says MONTAGUE SMITH

DOES marriage interfere with a career? This problem is probably as old as the Garden of Eden. We have to thank Lord Trenchard for putting it in a new form. He has just announced a rule that entrants to his new officer class of policemen will not be allowed to marry until they have completed four years of service.

Many people greeted this announcement with surprise. Their first reaction was an indignant denial of any assumption that a married policeman would be less zealous than a bachelor. Some adding that the mere fact of his having married proved him to be the possessor of the courage which all policemen need nowadays in dealing with motor bandits. This indignation rests on a false hypothesis. It is not a question of comparative zeal, courage or efficiency, but of the service which an officer can render to his corps. Lord Trenchard is applying to the police an order which is already common in the Navy, Army, and Air Force.

ARMY RESTRICTIONS.

In the Army an officer, if not forbidden to do so, is very definitely discouraged from marrying until he has attained the rank of captain. Some regiments required the payment of a cheque of at least £100 to the mess from any subaltern who married. The objections to a young naval officer's marriage—the long separations, the cost of maintaining a home for a wife ashore, and so on—are obvious; and the point of view of the Air Force was put rather bluntly last month by Sir John Salmond, the retiring Air Chief Marshal, when, addressing cadets at Cranwell, he said:

The man who marries too early will not enjoy himself. In fact, he will have a somewhat bad time—and be a nuisance to himself, to the squadron, and to the Service.

The reason for all these warnings and prohibitions—and it applies also, I believe, in Lord Trenchard's mind to the case of the police officer—is that a married officer cannot devote the time which a bachelor can to the welfare of the men in his command. A married man's first thought, when the day's routine duties are done, is of his wife. He wants to go home. A bachelor officer, on the other hand, has an undivided allegiance to the regiment, ship, squadron or police division.

There are, of course, other points of view. The economic; for instance, which we may suppose applies also to the police. Do the worries of marriage on inadequate income detract from a man's ability to do his job well?

In the banking profession certainly; and to a lesser degree in the Civil Service they believe that the answer to this question is: Yes. Before the war—the rule is not quite so stringent now—officials in many banks were virtually prohibited from marriage until they had an adequate income, which generally meant, waiting until the age of 30. The waiting until the age of 30, the financial worries consequent on an improvident marriage might render them easier victims of temptation.

Civil Servants, for somewhat similar reasons, are not expected to get married—or to be able to afford to get married—until they are 26 years old or more, or until they have at least eight years' service.

Yet in spite of all the "common-sense" arguments, the last census showed that there are more young married couples in England than there were ten years ago. Even the most resolute of the new police officers will find it difficult to arrest Cupid for "loitering with felonious intent."

Lord Trenchard himself was not married until he was 47.

MEN TAKE THEIR TIME

By Florence A. Kilpatrick

"WOMAN has no sense of time," a learned professor of Columbia University, New York, has declared. It is, it appears, a deficiency in the feminine mental equilibrium that causes us to waste so much of our lives looking into shop windows, waiting hours outside a church in order to get a mere glimpse of a bridal party, and so on.

This point of view I challenge. Women live at much higher tension than men. Taking them on the whole, their lives are more full of duties and obligations.

WHAT STATISTICS SHOW.

Statistics show that of the 100,000 people in England and Wales who succumb every year to heart disease—the direct result of the stress and strain of existence—53 per cent. are women. This, perhaps, is a somewhat extreme example to quote; but can it be denied that man is the leisured animal, that all his habits are rooted in a system that ignores the question of time?

Few women spend more than twenty minutes over lunch, which they usually prefer to be of the snack variety. It is the custom of the man of affairs to take two hours' off for the midday meal. (Try to make a business appointment with him between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock and you will find it impossible.)

Again, observe the leisured procedure of a man reading a newspaper. He will go through it steadily, perseveringly, becoming so immersed that he appears dead to outer impressions. A woman, on the other hand, will skim through the paper, absorb its contents in half the time the man takes, while keeping up a running comment on items of interest, interspersed, if necessary, with orders for the cook.

SLOWER DRESSERS.

In the matter of dressing, it is inevitable that man should occupy much longer time than woman. Garments that must be held up by leather thongs and linen that is fastened together by metal discs that are constantly rolling away and getting lost must naturally be less adaptable than our slinky "slip-on" clothing. But why the lengthy ritual performed by man and known as "changing" his pockets? A vast collection of detritus and articles must be carefully transferred from the ten pockets of one suit to the ten pockets of the other.

It cannot be denied that the greatest achievements in the world's work have been carried out by man—but he likes to take his time over them!

The Very Idea!

MORE BIOGRAPHIES

By Edward Kelly, Righter

YESTERDAY we gave the biographies of several of the newspaper people in the Colony.

The reception was so hostile that we have decided to continue the series. This time, however, we will launch into bigger and better things. We are going to tell you the secret history of some of our taipans.

Such a digging into family cupboards, and such a rattling of skeleton bones there never has been before in this Colony.

We would be a skunk if we did not acknowledge our indebtedness to the author of "The Love Affairs of Edward Kelly," by Edward Kelly.

Much invaluable assistance was also given to us by the publishers of Ballyhoo, the Army and Navy Lists, the Hongkong Hotel Wine Lists, and the monthly statement from Messrs. Calbeck, Macgregor and Company.

We received no little assistance from Wells' Outline of History, Stella Benson's articles in the Home newspapers, and from Mr. Lanepart, of the Nudist Society.

We are indebted to the Editor of the Telegraph for his kind discouragement, and to the Hongkong public generally. Thank you. Let's go!

"CKL", A.W. (Waterman) b. 1889, Sahara Desert; educ.: St. Clouds; invented water shortage 1899. Has since travelled extensively between Hongkong and Shing Mun; given to use of word "damp" otherwise leads impenetrable life; publication: "G.R. Notice-Water Restrictions"; can generally be relied upon to bring out at least one publication a year; has controlling interest in umbrella and soda water industries. Very fond of children, who idolize him because he prevents parents from giving them their baths.

"WIFE", E.D. ("Police, Mr. Hemingway") b. 1920, Still Going Strong; addicted to giving interviews to newspaper reporters; won some fame as song writer ("Dancing With Tears in My Eyes, 1929"); also playwright of note, produced "The Curfew Hour"; familiarly known to friends as "G.P.", meaning "I Go Places"; recreations: dancing—arresting hawkers and other desperate criminals, signing official papers addressed to "Edward Kelly"; clubs: the Baton, C.I.B., P.H.Q., P.D.Q., etc.; address can be found by seeking any policeman on the jaw.

"W.L.L.", N.G.T.N. ("DOC") b. 1910, Climatologist, Bacteriologist, Meteorologist, and then some; b. Waterloo, 1872; m. Blucher same year; sportsman of note, and can often be seen with his animals at Shing Mun Valley; has bred several fine specimens, including br. gelding Malaria (by Mosquito out of Swamp) no relation to Napoleon.

"R'TONGEE-WHLZ", H.K.B. b. on his birthday; educ. yes; appointed Member of Froth-blowers Association 1933; recreations: making beer; friend of famous Edward Kelly while his beer lasts. Clubs: No Trumps.

"TERRY", C. (Old King Cole); abdicated 1933, King of the portion of Kowloon containing rich coal deposits; b. Mississippi River; prominent coal-owner and insurance agent; Hongkong government member 1933. Published several historical works including "Amorphous minerals in Kowloon", "The Glacial, or Coal, Age", "Our Beautiful Peak" etc.; recreations: fossilizing for coal deposits; negro impersonations; clubs: The Peak Victoria; and others.

"GRA'BURN", V.M. (Rockefeller); b. Bank of England 1887; banker, pseudo-financier. (was tried him once); educ. Royal Mint; great believer in banking systems, where he keeps all his money; disciple of Gandhi and is Untouchable; universally regarded as Prophet, and never as a Loss; recreations: scribbling his name on New bank notes; gathering in bank notes; publications: "Hongkong dollar", "Dollars and Sense", "1/10", and many others; clubs: beneath his dignity as they're minor aids.

"SEE TAT-CHIT", b. 1841 by accident; shrewd; educ. none; invented chat system; prominent socially and calls on the Very Best People; so influential, that is able to introduce people to Court; most prominent resident in Hongkong; was universally unpopular owing to overbearing (malicious) publications; "Dr. Tattler", "Edmund Disfranchisement", "Pamphlet", "Ascom", "Rumors", etc.; recreation: only the one; club: every one.

LORD GREY MOURNED

WORLD-WIDE TRIBUTES

LONDON MEMORIAL SERVICE

London, Sept. 7. Viscount Grey's body will be cremated at Darlington Cemetery at noon on Saturday when the Bishop of Newcastle will conduct the service.

At the same hour, a memorial service will be conducted by the local vicar at the parish church of Embleton, near Lord Grey's home. There will be a memorial service at Westminster Abbey on Monday.

Messages of sympathy were received at Falloden from the King and Queen and tributes to the late statesman have been paid by all the leading politicians and all the evening papers irrespective of party and in many quarters abroad.

DEEP AFFECTION.

These bear out the deep affection and the high respect in which he was held by all who came in contact with him, including those who did not share his political views.

Some noteworthy tributes came from Mr. Arthur Henderson, Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Ullswater. The last-named, ex-Speaker of the House of Commons, says, "The speech he made on the eve of the declaration of war was the most moving I ever heard in the Commons." It was during that speech that Lord Grey declared: "We have worked for peace up to the last moment and beyond the last moment." Several references are made to Lord Grey's warm support since the war to the League of Nations.

FOREIGN MEMORIES.

The Government has received the following message from the Belgian Government:—

News of the death of Viscount Grey, just received in Belgium, has caused deep emotion. The country remembers the important part played by this eminent statesman when its territory was violated in 1914. The whole nation will faithfully preserve his memory and joins in the mourning of the English people.

The French Ambassador has sent the following message: "The French Government hears with deep emotion of the death of Lord Grey. Faithful to the memory of the great statesman who worked so hard for Franco-British friendship and for peace, the Government asks me to convey to the British Government its deep sympathy and sorrow which it shares with the British Nation."

KING'S TRIBUTE.

The text of the King's message to Lord Grey's sister is: "I am greatly moved at the news of the death of my old friend, Lord Grey. Lord Grey will ever be gratefully remembered for his devoted service to his country through three successive reigns and in those eventful years proved himself not only a distinguished statesman but a great Englishman. The Queen and I assure you and your family of our heartfelt sympathy."

AMERICAN MESSAGE.

"All Americans will give Viscount Grey a high place in history," declared ex-President Hoover, in a message from Sacramento, California, paying tribute to the dead statesman. "Lord Grey ameliorated many of the war's dreadful results," British Wireless and Reuter.

PITCHERS' DAY

BLANK OUT 3 TEAMS

INCLUDING THE SENATORS

New York, Sept. 7. Pitchers had a great day in the Major Baseball Leagues, three teams being blanked out.

Washington Senators had this almost rare experience against Chicago, and Cleveland were treated likewise by Philadelphia. Cincinnati were the other team to be sent home with a blank sheet.

On the other hand New York Yankees scored heavily and Pittsburgh and St. Louis followed suit.

Results, as cabled by Reuter were:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	2	7	0
Boston	1	6	1

(Berger homered for Boston and Hartnett for Chicago).

Cincinnati	0	5	0
Brooklyn	2	11	1

(Beck pitched and blanked out Cincinnati).

Pittsburgh	14	14	1
New York	2	10	1

(Weintraub homered for New York and Suhr and Grace for Pittsburgh).

St. Louis	10	14	0
Philadelphia	1	7	2

(Medwick homered for St. Louis).

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Washington	0	8	0
Chicago	1	3	0

Philadelphia	6	9	0
Cleveland	0	6	1

(Marcum pitched and blanked out Cleveland and Cramer homered for Philadelphia).

New York	12	15	3
St. Louis	8	13	3

(Gehrig homered for New York. The Boston v Detroit match was postponed on account of rain.)

W. INDIES DRAW AT SKEGNESS

MEET A CLEVER BOWLER

London, Sept. 7.

The West Indies to-day finished their last but one match of the English cricket tour, when at Skegness they drew with Eastern Counties in a two-days match.

They begin their final game on Saturday, when they meet H. D. Leveson-Gower's eleven at Scarborough.

The Eastern Counties enjoyed an honourable draw with the visitors. Taking first occupation of the wicket they compiled 217, to which the West Indies replied with 383, Wiles scoring 112 and Hoad 93.

Staples bowled with marked skill and his figures of 6 for 101 are scarcely a true commentary on the excellence of his bowling.

The Counties played out time quite comfortably, putting 97 runs on the board without loss.—Reuter.

ROYAL PARTY AT BREMAR

MAKE TRIP BY MOTOR FROM BALMORAL

London, Sept. 7.

The King and Queen, the Duke and Duchess of York, and the Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught, drove to the Broomar gathering from Balmoral this afternoon.

The Prime Minister, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, were also present at the gathering.—British Wireless.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF.

SUICIDE FROM STAR FERRY

VAIN SEARCH AFTER ALARM

As the Star Ferry Night Star was crossing over to Kowloon shortly after 11.45 last night, a well-dressed Chinese woman travelling on the upper deck threw herself overboard.

A few European passengers who saw but were not quick enough to prevent the act, raised the alarm, and the vessel was turned round and a search made for the woman. She was not seen again.

Papers in a handbag which the woman left behind enabled the Police to identify her as Poon Shi, living at No. 49, Johnstone Road, Wanchai.

BRITAIN PLANS NEW WARSHIPS

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRAMME URGED

London, Sept. 4.

It was reliably reported to-day that the government will urge on the next parliament a substantial naval building programme, providing for numerous new ships to be constructed in the next five years.

It was understood that Britain intends to increase naval personnel by 10,000 to accommodate the expansion in tonnage.

The British move is understood to be forthcoming as a result of the naval building programmes announced or begun by the United States and Japan.

BRITISH FUNDS FIRM

WEAKNESS OF GERMAN BONDS

London, Sept. 7.

When the Stock Exchange to-day closed the main feature was the weakness of German Bonds under the lead of potash seven per cent, which lost five points at 80 on an uncertain outlook.

British funds kept firm with war loan 3½ per cent, at 100½. Kaffirs were generally steady. Of the home group motor shares finished appreciably higher.

PROMINENT INDUSTRIALIST

DEATH OF SIR G. VYLE

London, Sept. 7.

The death occurred to-day of Sir Gilbert Vyle, aged 68 a prominent industrialist, who was Chairman of the British Preparatory Committee to the Ottawa Conference, and was an ex-President of the British Chamber of Commerce.—British Wireless.

SETTLE LIKELY WINNER

GORDON BENNETT BALLOON RACE

Glenview Ill., Sept. 4.

The U. S. Navy balloon, piloted by Lieutenant Commander T. G. Settle landed to-night near Bramford, Conn., and was believed to have a good chance to take the 1933 Gordon Bennett air race, which started here Saturday.

Settle was obliged to come down earlier than the condition of his balloon necessitated because he was about to drift out to sea.

He brought his balloon down at 10.45 p.m. after travelling approximately 700 miles.

Settle's landing was the third reported out of six balloons which started.

GERMAN MINISTER IN MEXICO

BARON COLLEBERG APPOINTED

Berlin, Sept. 7.

As foreshadowed a day or two ago, Baron Ruedt von Collenberg, the German Consul-General in Shanghai, has been appointed Minister to Mexico, vice Dr. Zechlin.

Baron von Collenberg is at present on leave and will not return to Shanghai.—Reuter.

more than anything else his eligibility as a member of the 1933 Interport team. Furthermore it is not his baptism, for as far back as 1923 he made his debut.

B. W. Bradbury is invariably seen at his best in team play. He has not the same flair when it comes to singles, but few local players have greater qualities as a team player.

With J. C. Brown as No. 3 and U. M. Omar skip, this rink, at least on paper, is the strongest the Colony is pitting against Shanghai.

The wisdom of the selectors in this direction will probably be better appreciated if the Interport depends on the third match.

MATCHES WITH SURREY (CONTINUED)

Two matches took place in 1869. The first was played at Bramall Lane on June 21 and 22. It was a small, exciting match and is notable for the fact (1) that the two bowlers respectively employed by each side bowled unchanged throughout the match and (2) that on the Yorkshire side, no-one was clean bowled in their first innings, and that only two of the side were clean bowled during the match.

Surrey batted first, and their venture realised 52 (Griffith 11 and Pooley 17). For Yorkshire, Freeman had 8 wickets for 30 and Emmett none for 20—the other 2 wickets being obtained by the batsmen being run out.

Yorkshire, in their first innings, with 62 headed Surrey's total by 30—their "double-figure" batsmen being Iddison 15, Freeman 31 and Ullathorne 13. The Surrey bowlers (Southerton and Griffith) had to their credit 6 wickets for 32 and 4 for 47 respectively.

Surrey then went in and made 67 (Jupp 11, Griffith 10 and Mr. Mayo 17)—Freeman and Emmett respectively capturing 5 wickets for 31 runs and 5 for 33. Left with 38 runs to make for victory, Yorkshire scored 40 for 4 wickets, of which Ephraim Lockwood made 12 (Southerton and Griffith taking 2 wickets apiece for 10 and 18 runs respectively)—Yorkshire thus winning by 6 wickets.

The second of the 1869 matches took place at Kennington Oval on August 5, 6, and 7. Surrey had first innings and made 187 (Pooley 25, Jupp 16, Mr. Mayo 10 and Mr. Mayo 11). Yorkshire utilised the services of five bowlers—the most successful being West with 3 wickets for 32 runs, Atkinson with 2 for 34 and Freeman with 2 for 66.

Yorkshire's first innings realised 284 (Joseph Rowbotham 101, Ephraim Lockwood 103 and George Freeman 53)—Rowbotham and Lockwood putting on 163 runs for the first wicket. Southerton was the outstanding Surrey bowler with 6 wickets for 88 runs, Mr. Mayo taking 2 for 13.

Surrey's second innings resulted in a score of 170 (Jupp 16, Mr. Mayo 12, Humphrey 88 and Mr. Mayo 18). Yorkshire again employed five bowlers, of which Freeman took 3 wickets for 68 runs, Iddison 3 for 37 and Emmett 2 for 36.

Yorkshire hit off the 80 runs requisite for victory for the loss of 3 wickets (Rowbotham 18, Lockwood 34 (not out) and Iddison 11 (not out)). Southerton and Street (for Surrey) capturing 2 wickets for 25 and one for 35 respectively.

The first of the 1870 matches was played at Bramall Lane on June 27 and 28 (Freeman being absent from the Yorkshire side owing to a damaged arm). Surrey went in first, but could make no more than 85 (Pooley 26, Griffith 11 and Hoggins 13). Of the Yorkshire bowlers, Emmett could only show 1 wicket for 35 runs. Clayton did better with 4 for 36, while West had the remarkable figures of 5 wickets for 3 runs!

Yorkshire's first essay at the wickets resulted in 108 runs (George Pinder 14, Eastwood 11, E. H. Rawlinson 30, West 22, Ullathorne 21 and Emmett 2 (not out)). For Surrey, Southerton took his credit 7 wickets for 77 runs and Street 3 for 60.

Surrey's second venture was a "little better than their first and realised 104 (Humphrey 21, Pooley 20, Street 36 (not out) and Spicer 14). This time, Emmett got 1 wicket for 6 runs, Clayton 4 for 38 and West 4 for 45.

Yorkshire lost 3 wickets before making the 20 runs they had to get to win—Eastwood making 17 of these—and thus obtained the victory by 7 wickets.

The Surrey bowlers, Southerton and Spicer, took 2 wickets for 6 runs and 2 for 2 respectively.

The second 1870 match took place at Kennington Oval on August 20, 30 and 31. Yorkshire occupied the green sward first to the tune of 114 runs (Iddison 11, Rawlinson 12, Thewlis 14, Rowbotham 20, Freeman 40, Emmett 12 and Clayton 10 (not out)). For Surrey, Southerton claimed 7 wickets for 61, Anstend 2 for 42 and Street 1 for 7.

Surrey, on going in, found Freeman (5 wickets for 15 runs) and Emmett (4 for 41) too difficult, and could only muster 60 all told, whereof Pooley made 20 and H. H. Stephenson 14 (not out).

Yorkshire then went in again, and collected 170 runs (Iddison 77, Rawlinson 12, Thewlis 17, Rowbotham 20 and Emmett 10). Of the Surrey bowlers, Anstend could show 6 wickets for 71, Southerton 2 for 61 and Street and Griffith 1 wicket apiece for 10 and 6 respectively.

Of the 225 runs set them to obtain for victory, Surrey could only score 87 (their double-figure batsmen being C. W. Carr and Southerton 12). Freeman and Emmett (who bowled unchanged throughout the match) captured 5 wickets for 28 runs and 4 for 51 respectively—Freeman's bag in the match being 10 wickets for 43 runs and Emmett's 9 for 52.

Footnote to this match: In the M.C.C. Cricket Scores and Biographies section, Yorkshire was not "beaten this season, winning 6 matches (Kent 2—Surrey 2—Nottingham 1)—losing none and one drawn "with Nottingham."

The footnote in question adds "Surrey played 18 matches this season, winning 5 and losing 13. The "first 12 matches they participated in "were lost for Surrey in succession—"a feat hitherto unaccomplished by "any county."

We now come to the 1871 matches, in the first of which, played at Bramall Lane on June 20 and 21, Allen Hill made his first appearance for Yorkshire against Surrey. Though it was mid-summer the match could not be finished and ended in a drawn game, "owing to the dreadful gloomy weather and the smoke."

The Bramall Lane ground is situated practically in the centre of Sheffield, and when the wind drops and the light can be very bad indeed. When I was last there in August 1931, for the Lancashire v. Yorkshire match (and incidentally saw Holmes and Sutcliffe put 300 for no wickets on the score-board in Yorkshire's first innings), there was very little smoke owing to the trade depression.

However, to return to our "mutuals"—the first of the 1871 matches—Yorkshire occupied the wickets first and made 107 (Freeman 40, E. B. Rawlinson 12, Cattle 21 and West 10 (not out))—Southerton taking 6 wickets for 60 runs, Street 3 for 43 and Brown 2 for 13.

Surrey then went in and thanks in the main, to R. H. Humphrey 88, T. Humphrey 60 (not out) and C. W. Potter 13, put together 165. For Yorkshire, Freeman captured 7 wickets for 74 and Lockwood and Iddison 1 apiece for 34 and 29 respectively.

Yorkshire then took their second innings and more than doubled their first innings score in making 218 (Rowbotham 40, Lockwood 89, E. B. Rawlinson 15, Pinder 17 and West 10). Of the Surrey bowlers, Southerton had to his credit 5 wickets for 80 runs, Street 2 for 22 and Potter and Griffith 1 each for 17.

Yorkshire's opening batsmen (R. Humphrey and Jupp) had only played one over in Surrey's second innings, when the match was abandoned for the reason already stated.

The second of the 1871 matches took place at Kennington Oval on August 21 and 22. Surrey had first innings and made 111 (Jupp 17, R. Humphrey 30, Pooley 11, Mr. J. C. Gregory 20 and Southerton 15). Hill and Emmett for Yorkshire took 6 wickets (all clean bowled) for 33 runs and 4 for 74 respectively. Yorkshire's first innings realised exactly 100 (Rowbotham 18, Iddison 14 and Allen Hill 28). Of the Surrey bowlers, Anstend captured 5 wickets for 29 runs, Southerton 3 for 54 and Marten 1 for 8.

Surrey then went in again, but met with disaster from the bowling of Hill (6 wickets—all clean bowled—for 24) and Emmett 4 for 39 and could make no more than 72. R. Humphrey (35) being the only batsman to obtain "double-figures."

The figures of Hill and Emmett (who had bowled unchanged throughout the match) were: Hill 12 wickets (all clean bowled) for 67 runs; Emmett 8 wickets for 113 runs.

Luke Greenwood (not out) hit off the requisite number of runs to give Yorkshire a 10 wickets victory.

TRIAL MATCHES TO-MORROW

H.K. CLUB'S NEW PLAYERS

R.A. TO PROVIDE OPPOSITION

(By "Veritas")

PHREW! FOOTBALL!

It makes one hot round the collar to contemplate the idea with the thermometer registering around the 90 mark, but believe it or not (as Mr. Ripley would say), forty-four (at least) local soccer stalwarts are going to engage in the good old winter pastime to-morrow.

These forty-four energetic young men have their eyes on the fact that the local league season starts in about three weeks time and they intend to have their muscles turned up by then.

So on the Club ground to-morrow you will be able to see two teams of the Hongkong Football Club and the Royal Artillery engage in the first practice matches of the 1933-34 season.

Both the Club and Artillery seniors are turning out several new men and their form will be watched with interest.

In the Club side, the old Brigade of Marlin and Strange will form the next but one last line of defence. Skinner and Andy Duncan, well seasoned Club players will appear in the half back line, led by Charles Wright, the well-known local tennis player.

Wright is making his debut in local football this season, but he is not new to the game. He used to play in the first division of the Shanghai Football League and is known to be a clever and reliable centre-half.

Up forward the Club are trying out a newcomer in Brown, who will appear on the right wing. But the best capture is that of young "Bunny" Bickford, late of Kowloon, who takes his place on the left wing.

He and Ernest Strange should constitute a very useful wing this season.

Howe of course leads the forwards and to-morrow will have Dominio on his immediate right.

R. A. LOSSES.

The Artillery have lost Taylor, Moore, Wood, Gough and Bryant from last year's team. Taylor, Moore and Bryant have gone back to England, Gough has joined the Police and can be expected to figure in their team, and Wood has decided that he has past the time for football.

Nevertheless some useful reserves are available, among them being Wroe, Edmunds, MacDonald, Greenshields, and Walker. The teams for to-morrow, kick off at 5 p.m. are:

Club—A. N. Other; Martin and S. Strange; Skinner, C. A. Wright and A. Duncan; Brown, Dominio, Howe, E. Strange and Bickford.

R.A.—Combey; Allan and Wroe; Rodgers, Pardoe and Harris; Edmunds, MacDonald, Greenshields, Walker and Seal.

The Club second team includes a number of newcomers, among them being G. M. Blinnie of Cambridge University, Gilchrist (formerly of the Club and Kowloon), Fisher, Williamson and Hills.

The team to meet the R. A. will be: Simmonds; G. M. Blinnie and M. Rallion; Lowe, Boyd and Gilchrist; Fisher, Williamson, Fowler, Hills and Sloan.

LADIES' GOLF.

Mrs. Harrop Wins Medal Pool At Deep Water Bay.

SEPTEMBER ACTIVITIES.

Mrs. Harrop qualified for the Captain's Cup for August at Happy Valley with a score of 99 less 8=69.

The Medal Pool at Deep Water Bay was also won by Mrs. Harrop with a score of 88 less 24=64.

A running Boney Pool will be held at Deep Water Bay during September.

The Ladies' Annual Meeting at Deep Water Bay will be held on Tuesday, September 30. A Tombstone Competition will take place, also Approaching and Putting and Long Driving.

A running Medal Pool will take place on the New Course at Fanling during October.

MEETING TO DECIDE

FINDINGS OF SUB COMMITTEE

KOWLOON DOCKS IN DEFAULT

REFUSAL TO PLAY LAST SUNDAY

DECISION NEXT TUESDAY

(By "Veritas")

If the General Committee of the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls Association, which meets next Tuesday, endorses the decision of the sub-committee appointed to conduct the competitions, Craigengower Cricket Club will be awarded the Spey Royal Cup this year by default.

The sub-committee met at the Craigengower Cricket Club immediately after the final of the Singles Open Championship on Wednesday to enquire into the conduct of the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club in refusing to play off the final of the Spey Royal with Craigengower on Sunday last.

I understand that as a result of these deliberations, it was decided to recommend to the General Committee that Craigengower be awarded the Cup.

The circumstances of the incident are already known. The sub-committee appointed Sunday last as the date for the final, Kowloon Dock intimated that they were not willing to play on that date. They were subsequently informed that it was imperative they played the match on the day appointed by the sub-committee, but I understand, the Dock replied that they would neither play on that Sunday nor any other Sunday.

ONLY ONE COURSE OPEN.

Confronted with such a position the sub-committee saw only one course open, and they consequently made the recommendation already quoted.

In coming to this decision, the sub-committee, I believe, took into cognisance the fact that Kowloon Dock had already played one Spey Royal match this year on a Sunday, and that they had established the precedent so far as the club was concerned two years ago.

Kowloon Dock did, in fact, play and defeat the Indian Recreation Club in the first round of the competition on Sunday, June 18.

It appears that the Dock have offered the sub-committee no definite reason why they should refuse to play the match on a Sunday.

The matter has not, of course, reached finally. Next Tuesday's meeting will decide whether or not the sub-committee's recommendation is appropriate.

FOREST DRAW & Q.P.R. WIN

London, Sept. 7.

Manchester United nearly obtained their first victory of the football season when they visited Notts Forest to-day, but they had to rest content with a point, both teams scoring once.

Queen's Park Rangers and Swindon met in the Third Division, the London club taking both points by the only goal scored—Reuter.

NO TENNIS INTERPORT

H.K. CAN'T RAISE A TEAM

"SIRDAR" INCAPACITATED

BUSINESS STOPS OTHER PLAYERS

SHANGHAI LADIES MAY VISIT HERE

(By "Veritas")

There will be no men's Interport tennis match between Hongkong and Shanghai this year.

The Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association have reluctantly been compelled to notify Shanghai of their inability to send up either a men's or ladies' team this autumn.

There is, however, still a distinct possibility of Shanghai sending down a ladies' side to Hongkong about November.

When it was discovered that a visit by the Hongkong ladies to Shanghai was out of the question, the local L.T.A. extended an invitation to Shanghai to send a team here, and at the moment this is being considered by the Shanghai L.T.A.

The suggestion is that the team accompany the Shanghai Interport cricketers who are due in the early part of the winter.

SIRDAR INCAPACITATED.

High hopes were at first held locally that Hongkong would be in the position to send up a first-class representative team, but unfortunately business calls prevented H. D. Rumjahn and several others from accepting the invitation.

In addition S. A. Rumjahn has been suffering from knee trouble for the past month, and he very naturally decided that he could not afford to take any risks with it, particularly as these would be increased by the adversity of the Interport type of tennis.

In consequence, Shanghai retain the Taggart Cup for another year. Already this summer they have defeated Tientsin by five clear matches, and being unchallenged by Hongkong, they retain possession of the trophy.

THE SINGLES LEAGUE CLUBS SLOW IN RESPONDING

So far clubs have been very slow in responding to the suggested establishment of a Singles Tennis League, and those who have not yet replied to the L. T. A. circular letter on this subject, asking for the opinion of clubs, are asked to do so forthwith, so that the Executive Committee can be properly guided as to the need of such a competition.

There has been a certain amount of support for the scheme, but as yet hardly sufficient to warrant such a competition.

It is therefore essential that the Association has before it the opinions of the whole of its members before making a decision.

A number of clubs have already replied in the negative, their grounds either being occupied for cricket during the suggested period for the league, or their players being engaged in other sports such as cricket, hockey, and football.

NO TENNIS FOR SIX MONTHS

Mrs. Wills-Moody Told to Rest

San Francisco, Sept. 7.

Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody is out of tennis for at least six months.

This information was made known to-day by her father, who emphasised that it was imperative that she does not touch a racket during that period.

The injury from which she is suffering is a great help to Adam Hollands, who as a skip, has no superior in the Colony.

INTERPORT BOWLS

LOCAL TEAMS ANALYSED

The selection committee of the Lawn Bowls Association have fulfilled their task, and for better or for worse, have picked the rinks which are to oppose Shanghai in the Interport here next month.

The Team is definitely a strong one, and armchair critics can expect little sympathy if they attempt the customary fulminations.

The method of selection is perhaps not unanimously accepted as the best, but since the selectors have current form as a guide, thereby ruling out the practicability of trials, and that the choosing of four players only to take part in the three matches makes more exacting the task of the selectors and increases the possibility of errors, the soundness of the existing system cannot be denied.

DEBUTANTE.

Although five members of the team are making their debut in Interport bowls, the three rinks are well balanced with players who have already won their spurs. Thus Coates and Chalmers in the first match will enjoy the support of old Interporters in Cullen and Luz; Ramsay F. Jones, and Hyde-Lay, two other newcomers will play with Adam Holland, one of the oldest representative bowlers.

In the third match, all four players are former Interporters, Hall playing for the first time in 1923, Bradbury in Shanghai last year, J. C. Brown in 1928 and again 1932 and U. M. Omar in 1924, 1926, 1931 and 1932.

It can be said quite confidently that there is not a weak spot in the whole three rinks. Coates, one of Craigengower's most experienced No. 1 players will provide an excellent lead in the first match, and in view of his current form, should be more than able to hold his own against the Shanghai No. 1.

ONE OF THE BEST EVER.

J. Chalmers of Taikoo is accustomed in the league to skip a rink, but playing No. 2 this should be an advantage rather than anything else, the position, requiring as it does, skill in drawing. F. Cullen of Kowloon Dock is an obvious selection for No. 3 and Raoul Luz will probably find himself skip of one of the best Interport rinks Hongkong, has ever turned out.

And the Colony need not be very worried about the team for the second match. Whilst it includes three new Interporters, the form of each one this summer has been sufficient to merit them positions in the side. Ramsay has been bowling consistently well for Kowloon Dock, and Hyde-Lay, if he produces anything like his recent form, will make an exceptionally powerful No. 2.

Everyone will agree that F. Jones of the Civil Service has earned his place. Certainly his colleagues at the Naval Dockyard are in no two doubts about it, and they are delighted at seeing one of their men given Interport honours for the first time.

Jones should be a great help to Adam Hollands, who as a skip, has no superior in the Colony.

CHINESE v. HONGKONG C.C.

The Chinese Recreation Club obtained a clean sweep over the Hongkong C. C. at Causeway Bay winning by 9 sets to nil.

W. H. Cheung and K. M. Wong (Chinese R. C.) beat W. Harris Walker and J. E. Henry, 6-1; 6-2; G. P. Puncione and F. Burkill, 6-2; 6-1; J. Hunter and King, 6-2; 6-1; Liang and W. Chan (Chinese R. C.) beat Harris-Walker and Henry, 6-1; 6-2; Puncione and Burkill, 6-2; 6-1; Mow and T. W. Lau (Chinese R. C.) beat Harris-Walker and Henry, 6-1; 6-2; Puncione and Burkill, 6-2; 6-1; Hunter and King, 6-1; 6-2.

FILIPINO C. v. DEUTSCHER KLUB.

Playing on the honor courts, the Filipino Club defeated the Deutscher Klub by 9 1/2 sets to 2 1/2.

A. J. Hussain and A. S. Hussain (Filipino Club) beat B. Soltau and Lubeseder, 6-1; 6-0; May and Boese, 6-2; 6-0; Somers and Foralta, 6-1.

M. Sousa and T. Leonard (Filipino Club) lost to Soltau and Lubeseder, 4-6; 6-0; May and Boese, 6-2; 6-0; Somers and Foralta, 6-4.

CHINA ECONOMICS

MR. SOONG OUTLINES HIS POLICY

Nanking, Sept. 7.
The Government leaders assembled at Kuling held a lengthy round table conference yesterday, when views were exchanged on various outstanding problems, according to telegrams published in Chinese papers this morning.

Regarding the disposal of the American Loan, Chinese telegrams state that Mr. T. V. Soong will suggest that $16,000,000 be earmarked for finance and measures in connexion with landit suppression, while the remainder will be placed at the disposal of the National Economic Council for constructive enterprises.

The telegrams add that Mr. Soong feels that, in order to achieve the best possible results, the proceeds of the American Loan should be extended through a centralised organ, rather than divided among the various Ministries and Commissions.

While the discussions are taking place in Kuling, speculation is rife in Chinese circles here regarding possible political changes. The independent newspaper, Sin Min Pao, forecasts that General Huang Fu will be appointed Foreign Minister and Dr. H. H. Kung Finance Minister, while Mr. T. V. Soong will be given an important post in connexion with the economic development of China.—Reuter.

Sailing For China In Month's Time.

London, Sept. 7.
Sir Arthur Salter, whose invitation to take service with the Government of China was recently announced, stated to-day that he would be sailing for the Far East in a month's time.

He added that he expected to remain in China for four or five months, but that until he reaches China he will not be able to say definitely what his work will be.

It is generally understood, in well-informed sources, that Sir Arthur has been invited to report and advise on certain financial reforms believed to be pending.—Reuter.

There were only two bidders, one of whom retired early from the scene, leaving the other in possession of what was described as a desirable building in a desirable locality. He is Mr. Ho Kim, a shopkeeper of No. 134, Third Street, and the price he paid was $4,500.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

If games and slams were bid only when they could be made against the best defence, contract would lose much of its thrill. A player who never bids more than the cards guarantee is far too conservative, for he fails to allow for the human element. Good defence is difficult, and the most skillful opponents sometimes fall short of perfection.

Probably the most interesting hands in the game are those in which the declarer has overbid slightly, and requires just a little help from his opponents to make the contract. Here we find a true battle of wits, with the opponents trying to discover the perfect defence which will beat the contract, and the declarer doing his best to conceal it from them.

The Bidding

To-day's hand was played in a rubber game, with North and South vulnerable, East and West not vulnerable. South opened with one heart, West passed, and North bid one spade, preferring to make a one-over-one force rather than to assist the hearts immediately. East bid two diamonds, South two hearts and North four hearts, which closed the bidding.

The Play

West opened with the eight of diamonds in response to his partner's bid, and East won with the king. South unhesitatingly played the nine of diamonds to the first trick, carefully concealing the three. The eight was presumably West's highest diamond, so the declarer knew that East could immediately mark him (South) with the queen and nine. To play the three at this point would expose the fact that he held at least three diamonds.

East followed with the ace of diamonds, on which South played the queen and West the six, and this gave East a difficult guess. The fall of the cards indicated that South had no more diamonds, and that West held the missing three spot, for if he held 8,6,3 originally he would play them in that order. A careless East player might have led his singleton spade, hoping West would have the ace and return the suit for a ruff.

However, a moment's thought about the bidding would make it clear that South must hold the ace of spades and five practically solid hearts, for otherwise he could not have opened the bidding and then re-bid his heart suit. In that case the only trick remaining for East and West would be the king of clubs, and that would not be sufficient to defeat the contract.

There also existed the faint possibility that South had false-carded in the diamond suit, and West's singleton heart was an honour that could over-ruff dummy. West grasped at this possibility like a drowning man at a straw, and it proved to be the actual situation. He was later able to make his king of clubs, thereby defeating the contract one trick.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

KIDNAPPING CASE

CHINESE COMMITTED TO SESSIONS

A young Chinese named Wong Kwan was charged, before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy, yesterday afternoon on two counts of kidnapping a child, aged seven years, and returning from banishment. Defendant was committed for trial.

Prosecuting, Detective Sergeant Lumont told his Worship that about 8 a.m. on August 26, the child, Ho Tak-cheong, left the first floor of 423, Reclamation Street, where he lived with his parents, to go to a public lavatory at the junction of Canton Road and Nelson Street. He did not return that morning, and his mother, who was getting anxious, went out to look for him. She could not find him, and about noon she told her husband of the disappearance of the child. They reported the matter to the Mongkok Police, who at once instituted a search for the child.

Walking along Tai Po Road in his search, the father saw the child about 2 p.m. on the same day sitting between a woman and defendant. The child called out to him, and on his approach, both the woman and defendant fled. The father went after the latter and eventually caught him in Peiho Street with the help of a Shantung constable. The woman was not caught.

Evidence was given by the mother, Chan Kin-sung, and the father, Ho Lai, told the Court that he went to work about 7.45 a.m. on the day in question and did not know anything about the matter until his wife told him about noon.

After reporting the matter to the Police, he went out on a search himself and in the afternoon he saw his son sitting near a bus-stop between a woman and the defendant. On seeing him, his son called out "Uncle!"

"Father" and "Uncle."
His Worship: Uncle? Why did he call you uncle? Aren't you his father?

Witness: I am his father, but COLOUR AND LIFE.

THEOSOPHICAL LECTURE BY MR. G. HODSON

There was a large attendance at the Theosophical Hall last evening when Mr. Geoffrey Hodson, the world famous clairvoyant, gave the first of a series of lectures on the occult, his subject being "The Occult Meaning of Colour."

Mr. B. Paul presided. In his opening remarks Mr. Hodson stated that the subjects of the eight lectures he would be delivering during his stay in the Colony were all connected by a central idea—that there existed and always had existed a body of truth upon every conceivable subject. In reality there was no such thing as mystery. There were no limitations upon knowledge; the only limitations there might be at all being in the mind of the student.

He also referred to the birth of (Continued on Next Column.)

he calls me uncle. The Court Interpreter explained that it was the custom among a certain class of Chinese for the sons to call their fathers "uncle." Continuing his evidence, witness said that after his son had called out to him, defendant and the woman ran away. He chased the defendant and eventually caught him in Peiho Street, with the help of a Shantung constable.

At that time, his son was wearing some clothes which did not belong to him. He was in a new jacket, had on a new pair of trousers, a straw hat and a pair of rubber shoes.

The boy testified that on his way home after visiting the lavatory, defendant told him he would bring him to see his father, and on the way bought him sweets. Defendant took him to a man and his wife, and a conversation took place. Later in the day, he was taken to a bus-stop on the roadside where he saw his father.

After Police evidence of arrest had been given, his Worship committed defendant for trial at the next Criminal Sessions.

the theosophical movement 58 years ago to form a nucleus on earth of a universal brotherhood of men and to give once more to the world the teaching of the ancient wisdom.

Colour a Power.

He said that from a theosophical viewpoint he found colour was definitely a power, a potent thing, which, if rightly used, was a very therapeutic agent. All colours were influences affecting our life, body and character, and the subject was one much more for meditation than words.

We were all, at the source of our nature, beings of white light. During our lives we passed into the colours and then back again into the white light. Every colour of the spectrum was related to one or another aspect of life. The consciousness and aura of vermilion red was strength and courage and the principle in man, emotion. The influence in healing was that of a stimulant. Rose red was the colour of love and brick red of passion. Orange meant pride and its effect in healing was that of a vitalizer. Yellow was the manifestation of the action of the intellect and was found to have anti-tuberculosis influences. These healing properties were very marked. A leaf-green was the sign of sympathy and had the healing properties of a sedative. Green with red denoted jealousy and dull green, cunning. Emerald green was a vitalizer. In its main form blue was the colour of devotion and religious feelings. It was very marked in Christian religion which relied so much on devotion. Blue was also the colour of peace and purity. Sapphire blue's influence in healing was that of an astringent and dark blue a sedative.

Violet was used for many skin diseases and was the colour of idealism. When mixed with red, however, violet could be more harmful than beneficial. It would be seen therefore that in our innermost selves we were all beings of colour.

To-night Mr. Hodson will talk on "Occult Meaning of Health and Disease" at the Theosophical Hall commencing at 6 p.m.

THIS SAFE WAY

Complete safety and absolute effectiveness in a deodorant which does not irritate—this is Nonspi. Many deodorants are safe. Many are effective. But here is one which is both. Nonspi, an antiseptic liquid, quickly checks perspiration in the armpits... prevents unpleasant odor. Leaves the sensitive underarm skin without a trace of irritation. DOCTORS PREFER NONSPI. They recommend Nonspi to their patients. Doctors prefer Nonspi because it is harmless—simply diversifies perspiration to other parts of the body where it evaporates freely. Nonspi is used by over a million women. Two or three regular applications a week will protect you at all times and save your gowns from perspiration stain and odor.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

STYLE'S IN THE PINK

For dining and dancing the smart girl wears a dinner suit. Navy crepe and pink pique fashion this useful suit, navy being as serviceable as black, and easier to wear, pink being the most flattering colour near the face. The jacket comes off, showing the sleeveless little pink top. The short-sleeved jacket is pink-lined, the gloves are pink and the little black-velvet pink hat is also very smart.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Try Buttermilk
To Soften Your Sun-Tanned Skin

By Alicia Hart

Your suntan may outshine all the others on the beach and make you extremely proud of your achievement, but when winter dances start, you may change your mind about the tan.

A brown complexion which is simply stunning on the beach and with your golf and tennis clothes will, nine times out of ten, be entirely unbecoming with the clothes you wear in town.

There are many prepared bleaching lotions and creams on the market to-day to lighten your skin a couple of shades.

If you don't go in for ready-made cosmetics, there are a few simple home bleaches which will do the trick.

Lemon juice is an old favourite. You can use it lavishly on your arms, hands, shoulders and elbows. A little will go a long way on your face and, if it has a tendency to smart your skin, apply a little cream.

The juice of cucumber rinds is another old-fashioned home bleach. You slice the rinds in water and let them stand over night. Next day, rub juice on your skin.

Buttermilk is two things—a bleach and a nice softener for your sun-tanned skin. Allow it to dry thoroughly before you rinse your face.

MILLINERY IN PARIS

(From A Paris Correspondent)

Hats are going in for inflation. Crowns are opening out like telescopes. Of course, if your shoulders are wide, your hat must be high to avoid that sawed-off appearance. The first high hats all seemed to think they had to copy something; either a Welsh peasant woman's head-dress, a fez, or kept, a Tyrolean peasant's hat, or a section of a stove-pipe.

But more original interpretations of lofty principles are taking their place. There is a new collapsible hat of black satin which may be worn towering like a skyscraper, or be dented down on one side. Afternoon turbans are seen topped with great plumes of aigrettes standing straight up in the air. Until every one is ready for inflation, there will be a quantity of sailor hats with tailored things.

They are frequently in the fabric of the costume or of its accessories; that is the new thing about them.

There are pique sailors with pique brims, starched white linings with matching trimmings, prints with prints, white organdy with organdy accessories, gay plaids with plaid blouses, even black lace with lace.

Paris also shows toques of artificial gardenias, and toques of lacquered feathers. Marguerite's cap in Faust has been adopted by a famous milliner, and Manon's tiny tricorne looks well on a small head with blonde hair and a tilted nose. Flowers have been revived in millinery and boutonnieres are seen again.

In the Best Table Manner

Dinner Frock Has Quaint Touch

Hollywood.—Washing fabrics are in fashion for dinner gowns.

Irene Hervey wore a leaf green organdie blouse atop a white crepe bias-cut skirt. The blouse had two ruffles around the bottom—purple effect—and a silk sash of darker green tied around the waist just above the ruffles.

Circular ruffles formed the cape sleeves. The neckline was plain and square.

Boots Malory wore a two-piece outfit consisting of a red gingham formal dress and a white pique jacket lined with the gingham. The gingham showed on the back of the turned-down collar and on the lapels. Boots' slippers were of white linen.

Lupe Velez likes two-piece dinner frocks, too. She wore a yellow and white organdie having a high waisted skirt and tuck-in buckless waist.

Lupe's swagger coat was hip length and she completed her ensemble with bright green sandals.

Arline Judge wore a pale green starched lace dress. The skirt had a rippling fullness from waistline to hem. A printed belt of highly coloured flowers divided the top and bottom of the gown so distinctly as to give a definite two-piece effect.

PITCHERS' DAY

INCLUDING THE SENATORS!

New York, Sept. 7. Pitchers had a great day in the Major Baseball Leagues, three teams being blanked out. Washington Senators had their almost rare experience against Chicago, and Cleveland were treated likewise by Philadelphia. Cincinnati were the other team to be sent home with a blank sheet.

On the other hand New York Yankees scored heavily and Pittsburgh and St. Louis followed suit.

Results as cabled by Reuter were:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago	R. H. E.
Boston	2 7 0
Cincinnati	1 6 1

(Berger homered for Boston and Hartnett for Chicago).

Cincinnati	0 5 0
Brooklyn	2 11 1

(Beck pitched and blanked out Cincinnati).

Pittsburgh	14 14 1
New York	2 10 1

(Weintraub homered for New York and Suhr and Grace for Pittsburgh).

St. Louis	10 14 0
Philadelphia	1 7 2

(Medwick homered for St. Louis).

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Washington	0 8 0
Chicago	1 3 0

(Jones pitched and blanked out Washington).

Philadelphia	6 9 0
Cleveland	0 5 1

(Mareau pitched and blanked out Cleveland and Cramer homered for Philadelphia).

New York	12 15 3
St. Louis	8 13 3

(Gehrig homered for New York) The Boston v Detroit match was postponed on account of rain.

W. INDIES DRAW AT SKEGNESS

MEET A CLEVER BOWLER

London, Sept. 7. The West Indies to-day finished their last but one match of the English cricket tour, when at Skegness they drew with Eastern Counties in a two-days match. They begin their final game on Saturday when they meet H. D. Leveson-Gower's eleven at Scarborough.

The Eastern Counties enjoyed an honourable draw with the visitors. Taking first occupation of the wicket they compiled 217, to which the West Indies replied with 383, Wiles scoring 112 and Head 93.

Staples bowled with marked skill and his figures of 6 for 101 are scarcely a true commentary on the excellence of his bowling.

The Counties played out time quite comfortably, putting 97 runs on the board without loss.—Reuter.

SUICIDE FROM STAR FERRY

VAIN SEARCH AFTER ALARM

As the Star Ferry Night Star was crossing over to Kowloon shortly after 11.45 last night, a well-dressed Chinese woman travelling on the upper deck throw herself overboard.

A few European passengers who saw but were not quick enough to prevent the act, raised the alarm, and the vessel was turned round and a search made for the woman. She was not seen again.

Papers in a handbag which the woman left behind enabled the Police to identify her as Poon Shi, living at No. 49, Johnstone Road, Wanchai.

The motive for the suicide is being investigated.

YUAMATI FERRY INCIDENT.

An attempt by another Chinese woman to commit suicide by throwing herself from the Yuamati ferry Man Cheung, was prevented by a prompt rescue effected by a seaman, Chung Pang.

The incident occurred shortly after noon yesterday, as the vessel was on its way to Hongkong.

Suffering from exhaustion and immersion, the woman, Liu Sik-man, aged 43, was given first-aid. She was handed over to the Police and her case was subsequently referred to the Secretariat of Chinese Affairs.

CAPTAIN'S CUP

J.S. DYKES WINS PLAY OFF TIE

J. S. Dykes and G. H. Bond played off their qualifying tie for the Captain's Cup yesterday, when Dykes won, returning a card of 87-13 equals 74. Bond's scores was 93-17 equals 76.

Latest second and third round results in the Second Summers Singles competition at the Happy Valley are as follows:

2nd Round (concluded). J. Harrop (17) beat W. J. Waddington (17) one up; J. S. Dykes (13) beat A. D. Humphreys (10) 4 and 3; W. Fooks (17) beat W. Pittendugh (17) 2 up.

3rd Round. A. G. Ursell (13) beat A. M. McKellar (8) 5 and 3; G. T. May (17) beat C. Mycock (15) 2 and 1; W. L. Alexander (17) beat J. Harrop (17) 3 and 1; A. E. Clarke (14) beat P. W. Amery (18) 2 up; J. S. Dykes (13) beat M. M. Currie (16) 5 and 4; H. H. Mundy (10) beat W. Woodward (17) 4 and 2; S. T. Butlin (10) beat W. Fooks (17) 2 and 1; L. Goldman (11) beat J. W. Mayhow (15) at 10th.

more than anything else his eligibility as a member of the 1933 Interport team. Furthermore it is not his baptism, for as far back as 1923 he made his debut.

B. W. Bradbury is invariably seen at his best in team play. He has not the same flair when it comes to singles, but few local players have greater qualities as a team player. With J. C. Brown as No. 3 and U. M. Omar skip, this rink, at least on paper, is the strongest the Colony is pitting against Shanghai.

The wisdom of the selectors in this direction will probably be better appreciated if the Interport depends on the third match.

An analysis of the Hongkong team only serves to convince one that it is a powerful, well balanced combination, which should, if not overruled by the occasion, prove good enough to win back the Interport honours from Shanghai.

THE PLEBISCITE RESOLUTION

ACCEPTED IN MANILA

Manila, Sept. 6. The plebiscite resolution which has aroused so much discussion during the past week was finally passed last night.

The action of the House in passing the resolution paves the way for the discussion of the plebiscite bill and other pending measures.

The resolution which will be taken by the Senate in two or three days has no other intention than to provoke discussion of the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act by the legislature.

Leaders stated that if it were not for the plebiscite resolution the merits and faults of the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act could not have been discussed by the members of the legislature.

The entire week's debate on the resolution was full of mud-slinging wherein former colleagues in the House heaped personal charges upon each other.

The three-day speech of Mr. Delgado was packed full of accusations against the mission members and defended stoutly the stand of Senate President Quezon.

The plebiscite resolution providing for a plebiscite prior to action by the Philippine legislature on the acceptance or rejection of the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act follows:

TEXT OF RESOLUTION.

"Whereas, all the members of the present Legislature have been elected under a mandate to work for an immediate, complete and absolute independence of the Philippine Islands;

"Whereas, the Hare-Hawes-Cutting act does not provide for immediate, complete and absolute independence and the provisions thereof are not in accord with the specific instructions sent by the Philippine Legislature to the Ninth Philippine Commission, and

"Whereas, in accordance with the true principles of democracy, no action should be taken by the agencies and servants of the people contrary to the latter's express mandate without first obtaining the people's sanction thereof:

Now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by that Senate and House of Representatives of the INDIANS CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

QUESTION AS TO GUILTY KNOWLEDGE

The case against four Indians charged before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, on two alternative counts of larceny and receiving of $500 in money, one ten rupee note, and clothing valued at $150, contained in a brass box valued at $45, from a watchman, Sher Mohamed, was adjourned after further hearing in the afternoon to September 16.

The defendants were Wali Dad, Mohamed Ashraf, Sahib Dad and Sakander Khan. The first three defendants were charged with larceny and receiving, while the fourth defendant was only on the receiving charge.

Mr. A. el Arculli appeared for the fourth defendant, and Mr. Horace Lo for the others.

Retiring Shortly.

Sergeant Fitches said that the complainant was a watchman employed by the Hongkong Tramways, and resided at their depot. He had a brass bound box containing clothing and other property which he left at No. 10, Star Street, 3rd floor, where the first, second and third defendants lived. The complainant was shortly due to proceed back to India on retirement. In addition to the clothing, $500 in Hongkong Bank notes and a ten rupee note were in the box.

The house boy employed by the defendants would say that on August 27 at 12.30 p.m. the only persons beside himself on the premises were the first and third defendants. About that time they wrote a letter, and gave it to him to deliver to a watchman at the Kowloon Docks. This letter mentioned a key, but actually was of no importance, as it was a ruse to get him away from the premises.

When the boy returned about 1.30 p.m. neither of the defendants was there, and he found the box missing. The following morning he reported the matter to the complainant, and asked him whether he had removed the box. The complainant said he had not, and later reported the theft to the police.

Coolies Seen With Box.

Inquiries were made, and an Indian watchman who lives on the adjoining floor had said that he had occasion to go up to this floor, and met the second defendant coming down the stairs, with four coolies who were carrying the box. He did not attach any importance to the incident. The second defendant had denied taking the box, and put the blame on some others.

Two Chinese detectives were sent out to locate the coolies, and they succeeded in tracing two of them. At the station those coolies pointed out as being the persons who had instructed them to take the box. The box was taken to No. 1, Minden Road, Taimshatui, where the fourth defendant was employed as a watchman, and the box was deposited in the garden there. The box was later found in the basement occupied by the fourth defendant.

The locks had been forced open, and $271 was found missing. The sum of $229 and the ten rupee note which were placed in a secret drawer were found intact.

Mr. Lo's Submissions.

After the evidence for the prosecution had been concluded, Mr. Lo submitted that there was no case against the second defendant, as the evidence had been flimsy, and in fact if it had not been for the statement he was alleged to have made there would be no evidence against him at all. Counsel, therefore, asked that the second defendant should not be called upon to defend himself, particularly in view of the position taken by the first and third defendants. In the case of the third defendant, there was really no case against him on the evidence alone, but he had himself accepted full responsibility. He would tell the Court that it was he who directed the first defendant to move the box for him, so that its removal was on his behalf. He would also say that he gave $5 to the first defendant asking him to pay for the coolies and boatman, and keep the balance for himself. There was no direct evidence connecting second defendant with the crime. He happened to be at No. 10, Star Street, top floor, as it was his own house, in company with the first defendant. The mere fact that he took no active part, gave no directions, but merely followed the party. He may have assisted in the way of giving help here and there.

Mr. Schofield agreed that the case against the second defendant was certainly not strong apart from his own statement, but he had helped to remove the box and must have known it was not the first defendant's property.

Mr. Lo said the third defendant would say that he explained to the second defendant that the complainant owed him money, and that he had decided to take the box as the complainant was leaving for India. He would say that the second defendant was leaving for India, and that he had decided to take the box as the complainant was leaving for India.

SETTLE LIKELY WINNER

Glenview Ill., Sept. 4. The U. S. Navy balloon, piloted by Lieutenant Commander T. G. Settle landed to-night near Bramford, Conn., and was believed to have a good chance to take the 1933 Gordon Bennett air race, which started here Saturday.

Settle was obliged to come down earlier than the condition of his balloon necessitated because he was about to drift out to sea. He brought his balloon down at 10.45 p.m. after travelling approximately 700 miles.

Settle's landing was the third reported out of six balloons which started.

his friend. Mr. Schofield.—He has taken the part of aiding and abetting. He has got a case to answer, and so have the rest.

No Guilty Knowledge.

Mr. Arculli, making his submissions for the discharge of the fourth defendant, said that he was charged with receiving stolen property, knowing it to be stolen. He submitted the onus was on the prosecution to prove that the defendant knew he was receiving stolen property. Evidence was given that the complainant did not know that the defendant was the box. It was taken to him by the third defendant who asked him to keep it for him for safe custody. There was nothing in the outward appearance of the box to show it had been tampered with. There was nothing to show it was not locked inside, so how was the defendant to know that the receipt of a box from a friend of his was in any way an offence against the law.

There was also no evidence that the fourth defendant had seen the box. It had been put in the garden of No. 1, Minden Road, easily accessible from the street outside, and anybody could have opened it. The point to be decided on was whether the fourth defendant had received the box well knowing it to have been stolen, and he submitted this had not been proved.

Continuing counsel submitted that the mere fact that it had been placed behind a camp bed did not mean it was hidden. And even if he had known it was stolen property, and had a share in the transaction, was it possible that nothing was recovered in his quarters, and nothing was found on his person? And this after his quarters had been entered into by the police at a time when he was not there?

Mr. Schofield.—There is no actual evidence that he was in the premises during the time the box arrived until the police arrived. There is no actual evidence of his receiving the box, but there is now evidence that he knew it was in his quarters. There were two blankets on it.

Mr. Arculli.—The mere fact that it was behind a camp bed with two blankets on it does not convey anything.

Mr. Schofield.—It was found there with the blankets on it, and also broken open.

Mr. Arculli.—The mere fact that there were no padlocks on it, does not mean guilty knowledge. Does your Worship say that because there were no padlocks on it when recovered, that they must have been padlocks on it before?

Mr. Schofield.—Yes I do.

Mr. Arculli.—Very well then.

All Over a Loss.

The third defendant, Sahib Dad, then gave evidence in the witness box.

He said that he had lent the complainant $200 in December last year, and the complainant had promised to pay it back in April. The loan was not on interest, but he had asked for repayment, but the complainant had kept on putting him off, and on August 24 complainant came to his flat and said he had not sufficient money, and he promised to repay him in India. He did not agree, and threatened complainant, saying he would take his belongings away. Complainant said he could go ahead, and take them away if he could find anything. On August 27 he went to No. 10, Star Street, and saw the first defendant there. He gave him $5 and asked him to take the box to the fourth defendant at Kowloon, while he went to look for the fourth defendant. He told the first defendant that the box was his. He did not find the fourth defendant, but when he returned to his quarters at 7.30 p.m., he asked fourth defendant to keep the box on trust. Fourth defendant agreed to keep the box. He told fourth defendant that the box belonged to the complainant. The following morning he met the complainant on the s.s. Tai Hing, and asked him to repay the money if he wanted the box back. The complainant asked him to return the box first, and that he would then leave the money with someone he could trust. Complainant then went on board the s.s. Kong So and the guards there gave him advice. One of them then came over to him. He asked the guard to look after his quarters, but the guard failed to turn up.

The hearing was adjourned until September 16.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET DULL

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was dull yesterday. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market:

The market closed lower due to moderate selling. U.S. Steel Corp. is down apparently due to the "Ironage Magazine" report of a decrease in production. Otherwise the market is most dull on account of traders holding aloof pending indication of a definite trend.

The Stock Exchange will open tomorrow. The Commodity Exchange Inc. has announced that trading in silk futures on Saturdays will be suspended indefinitely due to the industry's five-day week under the Code. Brokers' Loans were reported at $974,000,000, a decrease of $15,000,000 from August 24th figure of $989,000,000. "Ironage Magazine" report:

Steel production at 45% of capacity due to new business holding aloof pending final adjustment of market practices in conformance with the National Recovery Act code and also automotive consumption declining slowly. Our New York Office cable (This Morning):

Stocks: The market was very dull and slightly easy. Wheat: Liverpool apathetic. Our market eased moderately and is lacking the buying power of yesterday. Drought continues in Argentina. Constructive issues in favour of setbacks. Cotton: The market is easier on moderate hedging with light demand from Worth Street (the piece goods section). Mill trade and spot demand quiet. Silver: The market is steady but dull.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

The current attraction at the Queen's Theatre, "The Billion Dollar Scandal," will continue its run till to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. The film is a melodrama dealing with a sensational expose of a gigantic swindle, conceived and perpetrated by a group of men high in the financial and executive councils of the American government. Based on a play called "The Truth Racket," it tells how the whole crooked structure, carefully built up by this group, crumbles when one apparently unimportant man—a masseur and gym teacher—dares to tell the truth. The role of this man, Fingers Partos, is played by Robert Armstrong, who heads a stellar cast composed of Constance Cummings, Olga Baclanova, Frank Morgan, James Gleason, Irving Pichel, Warren Hymer, Frank Albertson, Hale Hamilton, Dorothy Peterson, Ralf Harolde, Berton Churchill and Sidney Toler. Harry Joe Brown directed.

"Dangerously Yours" Warner Baxter and Miriam Jordan, who made her recent film debut with him in "Six Hours to Live," are together again in "Dangerously Yours," Fox Film production which has its first showing to-day, at the King's Theatre.

Also prominent in the cast are Herbert Mundin, popular comedian, Florence Eldridge, Florence Roberts, Nella Walker, Will Davidson, Arthur Hoyt, Tyrrell Davis and Mischa Auer. "Dangerously Yours" was adapted for the talking screen from Paul Hervey Fox's novel by Horace Jackson, screen author of "Holidaze," "Papa Bound," "Sin Takes a Holiday," "Animal Kingdom" and other successes.

Briefly it revolves around the adventures of Baxter in the role of a suave society crook and Miss Jordan as a detective employed by an insurance company to protect its clients' jewels from such men as Baxter. The girl sleuth sets a clever trap only to be outwitted and shanghaied aboard his yacht in which he puts out to sea. Eventually, she falls in love with the man she is supposed to bring to justice and her solution of the problem is said to supply a surprising denouement to this fast-moving story.

Frank Tuttle, whose most recent productions were "This Is the Night" and "The Big Broadcast," directed "Dangerously Yours."

"No Other Woman" Many a woman who stands by her husband in the lean, hard years, scrimping and sacrificing, often loses him to an alluring young damsel after he acquires worldly success.

That he doesn't have to stay lost, especially if the wife is clever, is proven by "No Other Woman" RKO Radio Picture coming to the Central Theatre to-morrow.

Irene Dunne, Charles Bickford and Gwilt Andre from the eternal triangle in this drama which depicts the rise of a steel mill worker to prominence.

But for the enterprise and desire of the wife to get away from the grime and glare of the steel mill, the husband would never have been anything but a steel worker—and the best steel worker in the company, true, but always sweating in the heat of the furnace.

With wealth comes leisure—time to notice other woman—time to play opportunity to get into mischief. Then trouble, separation, divorce—and a wife and mother's tremendous sacrifice to hold her own!

"The Cisco Kid" When Edmund Lowe as Micky Dunn, the cavalry sergeant, makes a personal issue of trailing and capturing Warner Baxter who strays O. Henry's colourful Mexican legend, "The Cisco Kid" at the Oriental Theatre on Friday and Saturday, he parallels one of the most exciting exploits in the annals of Western law enforcement; the arrest of Agostino Chacon by Burton Mossman, Captain of the Rangers of Arizona, the very locale of the present picture. Chacon led the worst band of ruffians in the West. He was not at all like the courteous caballero represented by Baxter but a complete cut-throat. Mossman knew he could not get at the Mexican by ordinary methods, so he determined to join his guerrillas and bring him in single handed.

"It's Great to Be Alive" "It's Great to Be Alive" the new musical production from Fox starts Sunday next at the King's Theatre. It is reported as a rollicking romance, with one of the most unusual plots ever unfolded on the screen.

The story revolves about the possibility of all the men of the world being removed—except for one who at the moment, is a castaway on a desert island. The millions of women all over the globe, realizing that here is an alarming situation, set about to rectify it. What actually occurs is said to be the basis for more hilarity than has been seen in many a month. Raul Roulien, star of the South American stage and screen, makes his debut in this picture as a full-fledged Hollywood star. He has been playing in Spanish productions at the Fox studio, but will be remembered by many as the romantic traveller who played opposite Janet Gaynor in "Delicious." In "It's Great to Be Alive" Roulien has the more-than-entire role of being the one man wanted by every woman in the world. The cast in support of Roulien, includes Gloria Stuart in the feminine lead, Edna May Oliver as the famous scientist, Herbert Mundin in the leading comedy role, Joan Marsh, Dorothy Burgess, Emma Dunn, Edward Van Sloan and Robert Greig. One hundred of the most beautiful women in Hollywood are seen in the picture in which the full figure of feminine palchitude reaches its peak.

"Up for the Derby" Sure, and it's grand entertainment, in "Up for the Derby," a comparative newcomer is the leading man in the film and gives rise to expectations that he will forge his way to an individual niche on the screen. He is Davies picture which comes on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre. The charming and boyish, capriciousness of the little Colie has, we know, as well in the theatre when Laurence Taylor played in it have been carefully retained by Miss Davies in her splendid performance. Onslow Stevens, a comparative newcomer, is the leading man in the film and gives rise to expectations that he will forge his way to an individual niche on the screen. He is

The death of Viscount Grey of Falloeden leaves a gap in the ranks of Britain's elder statesmen that will be well-nigh impossible to fill, removes a man for whom an honoured place is preserved in political history. His appearances in public during the closing days of his life were comparatively rare, but his influence never waned for he was a man who never postured, who was universally trusted and admired. If we wish to find another European statesman of equal stature and similar candour, fair-mindedness, directness of speech and abhorrence of mere sentimentalism, we are obliged to go back to an earlier Englishman who was also in his day Foreign Secretary, Canning. Most foreigners these days are surprised to learn that Canning was a Conservative. His European reputation made him the idol of such Liberals as Heine. In Viscount Grey's case there is no incongruity between his foreign and his domestic records to explain away. He was all of a piece—a British Liberal as well as a European Liberal, Canning without Canning's ambition and weakness for intrigue, as clear-minded, as lucid in his speech and as courageous and tenacious in pursuit of his aims and with the same rare gift of being able in a controversy to put himself in his opponent's place. It was this gift which secured for him the triumphs of the Balkan Conferences of 1912 and 1913, compelled acquiescence in the agreement which his broad-mindedness dictated. As Prince Lichnowsky afterwards said, here was the justice of a judge. The all-roundness of his view left no loophole for disagreement and certainly less for any accusation of an unfair bias. Everyone who heard him speak in the House of Commons was acquainted with this overwhelming impression of candour which gained him his high reputation in Europe, which permitted him to appear in the most hostile councils and remain the most powerful figure. The remarkable thing was that he conveyed this impression of largeness of mind with so little apparent effort, with, in fact, the quiet force of all natural things. His enemies could never believe it, regarding it rather as an ingenious form of the old cunning usual in diplomatic negotiations, and making a profound mistake which perhaps contributed to the calamities which began to operate in 1914. He was, in fact, one of the most transparently honest men that ever lived, carrying with his honesty of purpose an air of impersonal authority, again concealing a fund of warm and human jollity. No one better earned the tribute of the description the most English man of Englishmen. The cares and burdens which fell upon his shoulders after the war, he bore with a spirit which never once quailed. We fear that Britain may wait long before she sees his like again.

THE GREAT ESSENTIAL

If this experiment in the better management of the machine succeeds, it will show not only America but the world a way to employ for the use of men and women the great abundance which is now a clog in the industrial system. But no economic theory, no machinery of recovery, however noble in plan and vigorous in operation, will of themselves fulfill the aspirations of the American people. They might take the nation back to 1929. Or even forward to a somewhat sounder prosperity. The reform of the economic system is ultimately a reform of the human heart. Unless it is, new forms of oppression will develop, new ways even of evading the blue eagles' benevolent eye. Unselfishness that is enticed by hope of profit or dragged on by government decree may be better than the old exploitation expressed in "business is business," but the great value of this American revolution is going to appear in the unselfishness which comes from a voluntary desire to make industry Christian.

transparently honest men that ever lived, carrying with his honesty of purpose an air of impersonal authority, again concealing a fund of warm and human jollity. No one better earned the tribute of the description the most English man of Englishmen. NOTES OF THE DAY

Water restrictions has been increased in severity, but there will be few who will cavil. The situation is almost unprecedented. A fortnight ago, the Colony was enjoying a full supply in all districts. To-morrow, on the island, residents will perforce settle down to a regime of six hours' supply daily. The steps have been as drastic as they have been swift, but no sound criticism can be offered. The restrictions merely indicate that the Government has learned the lessons of adversity; the community must do the same. Official figures reveal the startling fact that the amount of water in storage in the island reservoirs is 250,000,000 gallons less than in September, 1923, when the shortage caused a real water famine in the following spring. Assuming the calamity of no further rain 1,500,000,000 gallons may have to last us for nine months.

KOWLOON'S POSITION

Kowloon is scarcely any better off, though Shing Mun may prove useful in an emergency. The total water in storage in Kowloon is 661.97 million gallons. Despite restrictions during the last five days of August 317 million gallons were consumed during the month. If Government had permitted that rate of outflow to continue, the entire supply might have been exhausted by December. Four or five years ago, with Kowloon reservoirs nearly full, the situation would have caused little anxiety, but the rapid growth of the population, now estimated at over 317,000, means that drought has to be prepared for and that strictest caution must be exercised at the least sign of difficulty.

NO "LET-UP"

It will not be for the want of trying that the Great American Industrial Experiment will fail. General Hugh Johnson has now presented the Coal Code, which provides conditions for the workmen which would have been almost unbelievable three years ago. The economic theory—and it is new economics—upon which the recovery programme is based on the belief that industry must provide for the purchase of the goods it produces. This means that instead of turning quite so large a share of profits back into more capacity to produce, it must give a larger share to labour as wages and to the consumer in equitable prices. Only thus, it is held, can overproduction be avoided. This theory is logical. Whether America can prove it on the gigantic scale now being attempted is uncertain. It is a bold experiment. But a hopeful one. For in it sound business coincides very evidently with social justice. The higher wages and shorter hours which to employers mean better distribution of purchasing power and an assurance of markets mean to employees better homes and more opportunity for self-development.

THE GREAT ESSENTIAL

If this experiment in the better management of the machine succeeds, it will show not only America but the world a way to employ for the use of men and women the great abundance which is now a clog in the industrial system. But no economic theory, no machinery of recovery, however noble in plan and vigorous in operation, will of themselves fulfill the aspirations of the American people. They might take the nation back to 1929. Or even forward to a somewhat sounder prosperity. The reform of the economic system is ultimately a reform of the human heart. Unless it is, new forms of oppression will develop, new ways even of evading the blue eagles' benevolent eye. Unselfishness that is enticed by hope of profit or dragged on by government decree may be better than the old exploitation expressed in "business is business," but the great value of this American revolution is going to appear in the unselfishness which comes from a voluntary desire to make industry Christian.

transparently honest men that ever lived, carrying with his honesty of purpose an air of impersonal authority, again concealing a fund of warm and human jollity. No one better earned the tribute of the description the most English man of Englishmen. The cares and burdens which fell upon his shoulders after the war, he bore with a spirit which never once quailed. We fear that Britain may wait long before she sees his like again.

CUPID TOLD TO 'MOVE ON'

Says MONTAGUE SMITH

DOES marriage interfere with a career? This problem is probably as old as the Garden of Eden. We have to thank Lord Trenchard for putting it in a new form. He has just announced a rule that entrants to his new officer class of policemen will not be allowed to marry until they have completed four years of service.

Many people greeted this announcement with surprise. Their first reaction was an indignant denial of any assumption that a married policeman would be less zealous in the execution of his duty than a bachelor. Some added that the mere fact of his having married proved him to be the possessor of the courage which all policemen need nowadays in dealing with motor bandits. This indignation rests on a false hypothesis. It is not a question of comparative zeal, courage or efficiency, but of the service which an officer can render to his corps. Lord Trenchard is applying to the police an order which is already common in the Navy, Army, and Air Force.

ARMY RESTRICTIONS.

In the Army an officer, if not forbidden to do so, is very definitely discouraged from marrying until he has attained the rank of captain. Some regiments required the payment of a cheque of at least £100 to the mess from any subaltern who married.

The objections to a young naval officer's marriage—the long separations, the cost of maintaining a home for a wife ashore, and so on—are obvious; and the point of view of the Air Force was put rather bluntly last month by Sir John Salmond, the retiring Air Chief Marshal, when, addressing cadets at Cranwell, he said:

"The man who marries too early will not enjoy himself. In fact, he will have a somewhat bad time—and be a nuisance to himself, to the squadron, and to the Service."

The reason for all these warnings and prohibitions—and it applies also, I believe, in Lord Trenchard's mind to the case of the police officer—is that a married officer cannot devote the time which a bachelor can to the welfare of the men in his command. A married man's first thought, when the day's routine duties are done, is of his wife. He wants to go home. A bachelor officer joins in games with the men, lives in the mess, has an undivided allegiance to the regiment, ship, squadron—or police division.

There are, of course, other points of view. The economic, for instance, which we may suppose applies also to the police. Do the worries of marriage on inadequate income detract from a man's ability to do his job well?

In the banking profession certainly; and to a lesser degree in the Civil Service they believe that the answer to this question is: Yes. Before the war—the rule is not quite so stringent now—officials in many banks were virtually prohibited from marriage until they had an adequate income, which generally meant waiting until the age of 30. The view was (and is) that the financial worries consequent on an improvident marriage might render them easier victims of temptation.

Civil Servants for somewhat similar reasons are not expected to get married—or to be able to afford to get married—until they are 26 years old or more, or until they have at least eight years' service.

Yet in spite of all the "common-sense" arguments, the last census showed that there are more young married couples in England than there were ten years ago. Even the most resolute of the new police officers will find it difficult to arrest Cupid for "loitering with felonious intent."

Lord Trenchard himself was not married until he was 47.

MEN TAKE THEIR TIME

By Florence A. Kilpatrick

"WOMAN has no sense of time," a learned professor of Columbia University, New York, has declared. It is, it appears, a deficiency in the feminine mental equilibrium that causes us to waste so much of our lives looking into shop windows, waiting hours outside a church in order to get a mere glimpse of a bridal party, and so on.

This point of view I challenge. Women live at much higher tension than men. Taking them on the whole, their lives are more full of duties and obligations.

WHAT STATISTICS SHOW.

Statistics show that of the 100,000 people in England and Wales who succumb every year to heart disease—the direct result of the stress and strain of existence—53 per cent. are women. This, perhaps, is a somewhat extreme example to quote; but can it be denied that man is the loquacious animal, that all his habits are rooted in a system that ignores the question of time?

Few women spend more than twenty minutes over lunch, which they usually prefer to be of the snack variety. It is the custom of the man of affairs to take two hours off for the midday meal. (Try to make a business appointment with him between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock and you will find it impossible).

Again, observe the leisurely procedure of a man reading a newspaper. He will go through it steadily, perseveringly, becoming so immersed that he appears dead to outer impressions. A woman, on the other hand, will skim through the paper, absorb its contents in half the time the man takes, while keeping up a running comment on items of interest, interspersed, if necessary, with orders for the cook.

SLOWER DRESSERS.

In the matter of dressing, it is inevitable that man should occupy a much longer time than woman. Garments that must be held up by leather thongs and linen that is fastened together by metal discs that are constantly rolling away and getting lost must naturally be less adaptable than our slinky slip-on clothing. But why the lengthy ritual performed by man and known as "changing his pockets"? A vast collection of letters and articles must be carefully transferred from the ten pockets of one suit to the ten pockets of the other.

It cannot be denied that the greatest achievements in the world's work have been carried out by man—but he likes to take his time over them!

The Very Idea!

MORE BIOGRAPHIES

By Edward Kelly, Righter

YESTERDAY we gave the biographies of several of the newspaper people in the Colony.

The reception was so hostile that we have decided to continue the series. This time, however, we will launch into bigger and better things. We are going to tell you the secret history of some of our taipans.

Such a digging into family cupboards, and such a rattling of skeleton bones there never has been before in this Colony.

We would be a skunk if we did not acknowledge our indebtedness to the author of "The Love Affairs of Edward Kelly," by Edward Kelly.

Much invaluable assistance was also given to us by the publishers of Ballyhoo, the Army and Navy Lists, the Hongkong Hotel Wine Lists, and the monthly statement from Messrs. Calbeck, Macgregor and Company.

We received no little assistance from Vell's Outline of History, Siella Benson's articles in the Home newspapers, and from Mr. Laneport, of the Nudist Society.

We are indebted to the Editor of the Telegraph for his kind encouragement, and to the Hongkong public generally. Thank you. Letter go—

"CKL," A.W. (Waterman) b. 1889. Sahara Desert; educ.: St. Cloud; invented water shortage 1899. Has since travelled extensively between Hongkong and Shing Mun, given to use of word "dam" otherwise leads to inoperable life. Publication: "G.R.-Notice-Water Restrictions;" can generally be relied upon to bring out at least one publication a year; has controlling interest in umbrella and soda water industries. Very fond of children, who idolize him because he prevents parents from giving them their baths.

"W*FE, E.D. ("Police, Mr. Hemingway") b. 1820, Still Going Strong; addicted to giving interviews to newspaper reporters; even some fame as song writer ("Dancing With Tears in My Eyes, 1929"); also playwright of note, produced "The Carrow Hour"; familiarly known to friends as "L.P." meaning "I Go Places"; recreations: dancing, arranging hawkers and other desperate criminals, signing official papers addressed to Edward Kelly; clubs: the Baton, C.I.B., P.H.Q., P.D.Q., etc.; addresses can be found by seeking any policeman on the job.

CUBAN COMMUNISTS CHALLENGE U.S.A.

LANDING
NOT AN AMERICAN COLONY
FORCES
OFFER

Havana, Sept. 7.

Threats by the Communist leaders in Cuba are giving rise to acute anxiety in Washington and among the American community in Havana.

The Revolutionary Government Council, composed of the leaders of the coup d'état staged by soldiers, sailors and policemen, who seized control of the army and navy and placed the officers under arrest, announces its willingness to resign if the people desire.

The Communist Central Committee, however, is reported to have agreed to organize resistance to any sort of intervention.

It is stated that they will fire upon the United States forces if they land "in order to show the world that Cuba is not an American colony."

MORE WARSHIPS.

Two more destroyers have been ordered to Cuba from Newport and the destroyer, Overton, has been ordered to the Isle of Pines where the American Colony fears an outbreak among the two thousand convicts in the model prison there.

It is noteworthy that the last revolution has the support of the powerful students' group and the ABC society, spearhead of the revolt which ousted the Machado regime.

Enlisted soldiers and sailors who have seized control of the army and navy have placed machine guns at all strategic Havana intersections.

WOMEN WIELD CLUBS.

"We won't relinquish control until a truly revolutionary government has been established in Cuba and then the command will be given back to the officers," Sergeant Batista stated.

He said the trouble arose over a proposed reduction in pay and dissatisfaction of the soldiers with the colonels in command.

At Santiago groups of women armed with clubs scoured the city attacking strike breakers as several Communist-organized strikes created disorders. Two civilians and one soldier were killed in a gunfight early in the day.

The army took possession of the streets, firing frequently to clear traffic and several persons were thus wounded.

POLICE SERGT'S POST.

Police Sergeant Angel Gonzales has been chosen as Havana's chief-of-staff.

Meanwhile General Machado, recently ousted by revolt after eight years as president of Cuba, has arrived in Montreal, where he declared he was willing to return to Havana and stand trial on the criminal charges filed against him and several members of his cabinet.

"I am willing and even eager to go back to Cuba and stand either a military or civil trial if Cuba gives me a guarantee of my personal safety," he said, adding he had "no fear of any orderly investigation."—Reuter.

AMATEUR PHOTO
EXHIBITIONOVER A THOUSAND VISITORS

The decision to again exhibit the entries received in the Telegraph Amateur Photographic Competition was thoroughly justified, the interest shown in the event being indicated by the fact that over a thousand people visited this Morning Post Building during the four days of the display.

A number of requests were made for the names and addresses of the owners of outstanding pictures, many people expressing the hope that they would be able to secure copies.

The prize-winning pictures will be published in the pictorial Supplement to-morrow.

LORD GREY
MOURNED
TRIBUTESLONDON MEMORIAL SERVICE

London, Sept. 7.
Viscount Grey's body will be cremated at Darlington Cemetery at noon on Saturday when the Bishop of Newcastle will conduct the service.

At the same hour, a memorial service will be conducted by the local vicar at the parish church of Embleton, near Lord Grey's home. There will be a memorial service at Westminster Abbey on Monday.

Messages of sympathy were received at Falloden from the King, and Queen and tributes to the late statesman have been paid by all the leading politicians and all the evening papers irrespective of party and in many quarters abroad.

DEEP AFFECTION.

These bear out the deep affection and the high respect in which he was held by all who came in contact with him, including those who did not share his political views.

Some noteworthy tributes came from Mr. Arthur Henderson, Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Ullswater. The last-named, ex-Speaker of the House of Commons, says, "The speech he made on the eve of the declaration of war was the most moving I ever heard in the Commons." It was during that speech that Lord Grey declared: "We have worked for peace up to the last moment and beyond the last moment." Several references are made to Lord Grey's warm support since the war to the League of Nations.

FOREIGN MEMORIES.

The Government has received the following message from the Belgian Government:—

News of the death of Viscount Grey, just received in Belgium, has caused deep emotion. The country remembers the important part played by this eminent statesman when its territory was violated in 1914. The whole nation will faithfully preserve his memory and joins in the mourning of the English people."

The French Ambassador has sent the following message: "The French Government hears with deep emotion of the death of Lord Grey. Faithful to the memory of the great statesman who worked so hard for Franco-British friendship and for peace, the Government asks me to convey to the British Government its deep sympathy and sorrow which it shares with the British Nation."

KING'S TRIBUTE.

The text of the King's message to Lord Grey's sister is: "I am greatly moved at the news of the death of my old friend, Lord Grey. Lord Grey will ever be gratefully remembered for his devoted service to his country through three successive reigns and in those eventful years proved himself not only a distinguished statesman but a great Englishman. The Queen and I assure you and your family of our heartfelt sympathy."

AMERICAN MESSAGE.

"All Americans will give Viscount Grey a high place in history," declared ex-President Hoover, in a message from Sacramento, California, paying tribute to the dead statesman.

"Lord Grey ameliorated many of the war's dreadful results,"—British Wireless and Reuter.

FUTURE OF NAZIS
SPEECHES
HERR GOEBBELS
AND JEWS

Nuremberg, Sept. 2.
The third day of the National Socialist Congress which found the enthusiasm of the population undiminished began to-day with a mass-meeting of party functionaries on the Zeppelin Field followed later by a gigantic rally of the Hitler youth at which about 70,000 brown-shirted boys and girls paraded. The Chancellor spoke on both occasions and his never-failing oratory again deeply stirred his hearers.

In his speech before 150,000 party members and functionaries, the Chancellor reminded his hearers of their grave responsibilities as trustees of the National Socialist party organisation. "Yours is the task to inculcate the German people with the doctrines and ideals of the National Socialist movement and to educate them to be true citizens of the new States. The entire nation must go through the school of our movement."

Graf Zeppelin Takes Part.
In the evening gaiety reigned everywhere with happy crowds surging through the main thoroughfares adorned with flags, while bands played in all public squares and parks. One of to-day's features was the visit of Graf Zeppelin which arrived in the afternoon and for one hour slowly circled above the city before returning to Friedrichshafen.

Speaking before the Party Congress, the Reichs-Propaganda Minister Dr. Goebbels said that the Versailles Treaty was directly responsible for the National Socialist revolution in Germany because that monstrous deed of a peace document left no other choice to the German people. Germany must live and she can live only by following one leader and through national unity. The movement would be unthinkable without all the misery and despair born of the Great War and its aftermath.

New Consciousness of Authority.

The National Socialist revolution, continued the speaker, although a typically German affair, nevertheless concerns the whole world. That democracy has been replaced in Germany by new consciousness of authority, that liberalism has broken down under the blows dealt by National Socialism and that the parliamentary party state, in the eyes of Germany's youth, merely represents an antiquated idea, these are facts which naturally were destined to arouse liberal elements against Germany. It was not surprising that usufructuaries of the parliamentary system should have left

SHIP IN
SHANGHAIFOUR SEAMEN INJURED

Shanghai, Sept. 5.

After a desperate struggle with the typhoon for more than twenty hours, during which she drifted helplessly for a distance of more than forty miles, and was violently tossed about by mountainous waves, the China Merchants ss. Hsin Ming limped into port yesterday—morning minus anchors and a quantity of cargo and with most of her equipments on the deck lost or damaged.

Four sailors who laboured on the deck narrowly escaped death, but were injured, while more than 200 passengers landed with a large quantity of their belongings soaked with water. The vessel left Weihaiwei at 10.30 p.m. last Thursday. The voyage proved peaceful until at 1 a.m. on Saturday, when she encountered the force of the typhoon. She was then approximately five miles from the Shawishan Island, opposite the Tsung-Ming Island. Captain C. C. Ma, commander of the vessel, ordered full speed, but found the vessel repeatedly beaten back.

BOTH ANCHORS LOST.

In view of the grave situation anchors were dropped, and the chains were let out to full length so as to set them firmly in the bottom. In order to combat the force of the wind and to minimise the degree of danger, the vessel was set head into the wind, and the full speed was maintained.

The struggle with the typhoon lasted but a short time, when both anchors were snapped from their chains. The vessel was found to be drifting.

The typhoon maintained its force throughout the day. The waves washed cargo from her deck. Ventilators were broken, and the windlass damaged, while the bridge was badly shaken. A large number of cabins were flooded with water. While the crew laboured against disaster, the passengers shrieked and yelled for help.

It was not until 5 a.m. that the storm abated, and the vessel found her course. She will enter a dry dock for repairs.

Germany to take up their activities elsewhere as soon as they saw that the position of National Socialism had become unshakable. Yet these persons have not yet abandoned the hope of returning to Germany even though it may be at a distant date and, in the meanwhile, they leave no stone unturned in order to create difficulties for Germany in the sphere of international politics. Laws enacted by the new German Government are often harshly and unjustly criticised abroad but it should not be forgotten that for instance the Jewish problem which confronted Germany can only be understood by an unbiased study also of the German point of view.

Will Recall Against Jews

"Jews have everywhere sought to mobilise world opinion against Germany in the secret hope of reconquering lost ground. But this hope is not only vain, it likewise conceals numerous dangers for Jewry itself. The more Jews attack Germany, the greater becomes the danger that the debate will assume proportions susceptible of entailing most disastrous consequences for the Jewish race. The facts are that after the Great War Germany was swamped with unwelcome migratory Jews who succeeded through their Marxist and Communist affiliations in becoming predominant in the country public, political and economic life. In the time of rising national unemployment such encroachment upon the means of living of a whole nation became intolerable. The percentage of Jews among the judges, magistrates, doctors, journalists, university teachers constitute a most convincing argument in favour of the reforms we undertook. Nor did we create the setback which Jewry had to suffer now. These consequences were brought about by a natural development for which Jewry itself is to blame. Although into national Jewish circles by fostering a world-wide boycott movement, succeeded in causing temporary foreign political embarrassment to Germany, they thereby suffered far greater harm than they inflicted upon us."

"At present the world boycott, instigated by international Jewry and carried out with much cunning, still weighs upon our country. But we know that the truth is on our side. We need not fear the world's verdict."

Two matches took place in 1869. The first was played at Bramall Lane on June 21 and 22. It was a small scoring match and is notable for the fact (1) that the two bowlers respectively employed by each side bowled unchanged throughout the match and (2) that on the Yorkshire side, no one was clean bowled in their first innings, and that only two of that side were clean bowled during the match.

Surrey batted first, and their venture realised 52 (Griffith 11 and Pootley 17). For Yorkshire, Freeman had 8 wickets for 50 and Emmett none for 22—the other 2 wickets being obtained by the batsmen being run out.

Yorkshire, in their first innings, with 82, headed Surrey's total by 30—their "double-figure" batsmen being Addison 15, Freeman 31 and Ullathorne 15. The Surrey bowlers, however, were not so successful, only securing 40 wickets for 44 runs. (Southerton and Griffith had to their credit 6 wickets for 32 and 4 for 47 respectively.)

Surrey then went in and made 67 (Jupp 11, Griffith 10 and Mr. Mayo 17). Freeman and Emmett respectively captured 5 wickets for 31 runs and 6 for 33. Left with 38 runs to make for victory, Yorkshire scored 40 for 4 wickets, the wickets being obtained by the batsmen being run out.

The second of the 1869 matches took place at Kennington Oval on August 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1900. Mr. Mayo 19 and Mr. Mayo 11). Yorkshire utilised the services of five bowlers—the most successful being West with 3 wickets for 32 runs, Atkinson with 2 for 36 and Freeman with 2 for 66.

Yorkshire's first innings realised 284 (Joseph Rowbotham 101, Ephraim Lockwood 103 and George Freeman 53)—Rowbotham and Lockwood putting on 103 runs for the first wicket. Southerton was the outstanding Surrey bowler with 6 wickets for 88 runs, Mr. Mayo taking 2 for 13.

Surrey's second innings resulted in a score of 175 (Jupp 45, Mr. Mayo 12, Humphrey 88 and Mr. Mayo 18). Yorkshire again employed five bowlers of whom Freeman took 3 wickets for 60 runs, Addison 3 for 37 and Emmett 2 for 36.

Yorkshire hit off the 80 runs requisite for victory for the loss of 5 wickets (Rowbotham 38, Lockwood 34 (not out) and Addison 11 not out). Southerton and Street (for Surrey) capturing 2 wickets for 26 and one for 36 respectively.

The first of the 1870 matches was played at Bramall Lane on June 27 and 28 (Freeman being absent from the Yorkshire side owing to a day's rest). Surrey went in first, but could make no more than 89 (Pootley 26, Griffith 11 and Rogers 18). Of the Yorkshire bowlers, Emmett could only show 1 wicket for 35 runs. Clayton, better with 4 for 86, while West had the remarkable figures of 5 wickets for 3 runs.

Yorkshire's first essay at the wicket resulted in 105 runs (George Pinder 14, Eastwood 11, E. H. Rawlinson 29, West 22, Ullathorne 21 and Emmett 21 not out). For Surrey, Southerton had to his credit 7 wickets for 77 runs and Street 3 for 60.

Surrey's second venture was a little better than their first and realised 104 (Humphrey 21, Pootley 20, Street 10 (not out) and Spicer 14). This time, Emmett got 1 wicket for 6 runs, Clayton 4 for 38 and West 4 for 46.

Yorkshire lost 3 wickets before making the 20 runs they had to get to win—Eastwood making 17 of these—and thus obtained the victory by 7 wickets. The Surrey bowlers, Southerton and Spicer, took 2 wickets for 0 runs and 1 for 2 respectively.

The second 1870 match took place at Kennington Oval on August 29, 30 and 31. Yorkshire occupied the green award first to the tune of 114 runs (Rawlinson 32, Rawlinson 32, Thewlis 14, Rowbotham 20, Freeman 18, Emmett 12 and Clayton 16 not out). For Surrey, Southerton claimed 7 wickets for 61, Anstead 2 for 42 and Street 1 for 7.

Surrey, on going in, found Freeman (5 wickets for 15 runs) and Emmett (4 for 41) too difficult, and could only muster 60 all told, whereof Pootley made 38 and H. H. Stephenson 14 (not out).

Yorkshire then went in again and collected 170 runs (Addison 77, Rawlinson 12, Thewlis 17, Rowbotham 20 and Emmett 10). Of the Surrey bowlers, Anstead could show 6 wickets for 71, Southerton 2 for 61 and Street and Griffith 1 wicket apiece for 10 and 2 respectively.

Of the 225 runs net them to obtain for victory, Surrey could only score 87 (their double-figure batsmen being C. W. Potter 18 and Southerton 12). Freeman and Emmett (who bowled unchanged throughout the match) captured 5 wickets for 28 runs and 1 for 51 respectively. Freeman's big 14 in the match being 10 wickets for 43 runs and Emmett's 9 for 52.

A footnote to this match in the M.C.C. "Cricket Scores and Biographies" states "Yorkshire was not beaten this season, winning 6 matches (1st Surrey 2, 2nd 1 and 3rd 1), losing none and one drawn with Netta."

The footnote in question adds "Surrey played 18 matches this season winning 5 and losing 13. The first 12 matches they participated in "were lost for Surrey in succession—a feat hitherto unaccomplished by any county."

We now come to the 1871 matches, in the first of which, played at Bramall Lane, on June 19, 20 and 21, Allen Hill made his first appearance for Yorkshire against Surrey. Though it was mid-summer the match could not be finished and ended in a drawn game, "owing to the dreadful gloomy weather and the smoke." The Bramall Lane ground is situated practically in the centre of Sheffield, and when the wind drops and the smoke hangs low, drifting along, the light can be very bad indeed. When I was last there in August 1931, for the Lancashire v. Yorkshire match (and incidentally saw Holmes and Sutcliffe put 300 runs in 100 minutes) Southerton, taking 6 wickets for 50 runs, Street 3 for 43 and Brown 2 for 13.

Surrey then went in and thanks in the main, to R. H. Humphrey 80, T. Humphrey 60 (not out) and C. W. Potter 13, put together 165. For Yorkshire, Freeman captured 7 wickets for 74 and Lockwood and Addison 1 apiece for 34 and 29 respectively.

Yorkshire then took their second innings and more than doubled their first innings score, in making 218 (Rowbotham 40, Lockwood 89, E. B. Rawlinson 16, Pinder 17 and West 16). Of the Surrey bowlers, Southerton had to his credit 5 wickets for 80 runs, Street 2 for 83 and Potter and Griffith 1 each for 17 and none respectively.

The Surrey opening batsmen (R. Humphrey and Jupp) had only played one over in Surrey's second innings, when the match was abandoned for the rain already stated.

The second of the 1871 matches took place at Kennington Oval on August 21 and 22. Surrey had first innings and made 111 (Jupp 17, R. Humphrey 30, Pootley 11, Mr. J. C. Gregory 20 and Southerton 15). Hill and Emmett for Yorkshire took 6 wickets (all clean bowled) for 95 runs and 4 for 74 respectively. Yorkshire's first innings realised exactly 100 (Rowbotham 18, Addison 14 and Allen Hill 28). Of the Surrey bowlers, Anstead captured 5 wickets for 29 runs, Southerton 3 for 64 and Martin 1 for 8.

Surrey then went in again, but met with disaster from the bowling of Hill (6 wickets—all clean bowled) for 24 and Emmett 4 for 39, and could make no more than 72. R. Humphrey (35) being the only batsman to obtain "double-figures."

The figures of Hill and Emmett (who had bowled unchanged throughout the match) were: Hill 12 wickets (all clean bowled) for 57 runs; Emmett 8 wickets for 113 runs. Luke Greenwood (33 not out) and Joseph Rowbotham (48 not out) hit off the requisite number of runs to give Yorkshire a 10 wickets' victory.

TRIAL MATCHES TO-MORROW

H.K. CLUB'S NEW PLAYERS

R.A. TO PROVIDE OPPOSITION

(By "Veritas").

PHEW! FOOTBALL!

It makes one hot round the collar to contemplate the idea with the thermometer registering around the 90 mark, but believe it or not (as Mr. Ripley would say), forty-four (at least) local soccer stalwarts are going to engage in the good old winter pastime to-morrow.

These forty-four energetic young men have their eyes on the fact that the local league season starts in about three weeks time and they intend to have their muscles turned up by then.

So on the Club ground to-morrow you will be able to see two teams of the Hongkong Football Club and the Royal Artillery engage in the first practice matches of the 1933-34 season.

NEWCOMERS.

Both the Club and Artillery seniors are turning out several new men and their form will be watched with interest.

In the Club side, the old Brigade of Martin and Strange will form the next but one last line of defence. Skinner and Andy Duncan, well seasoned Club players will appear in the half back line, led by Charles Wright, the well known local tennis player.

Wright is making his debut in local football this season, but he is not new to the game. He used to play in the first division of the Shanghai Football League and is known to be a clever and reliable centre-half.

Up forward the Club are trying out a newcomer in Brown, who will appear on the right wing. But the best capture is that of young "Bunny" Bickford, late of Kowloon, who takes his place on the left wing.

He and Ernest Strange, should constitute a very useful wing this season.

Howe of course leads the forwards and to-morrow will have Dominio on his immediate right.

R. A. LOSSES.

The Artillery have lost Taylor, Moore, Wood, Gough and Bryant from last year's team. Taylor, Moore and Bryant have gone back to England, Gough has joined the Police and can be expected to figure in their team, and Wood has decided that he has past the time for football.

Nevertheless some useful reserves are available, among them being Wroe, Edmunds, MacDonald, Greenshields, and Walker.

The teams for to-morrow, kick off at 5 p.m. are:

R.A.:—Combey; Allan and Wroe; Rodgers, Pardee and Harris; Edmunds, MacDonald, Greenshields, Walker and Seal.

The Club second team includes a number of newcomers, among them being G. M. Binnie of Cambridge University, Gilchrist (formerly of the Club and Kowloon), Fisher, Williamson and Hills.

The team to meet the R. A. will be: Simmonds; G. M. Binnie and M. Ralston; Lowe, Boyd and Gilchrist; Fisher, Williamson, Fowler, Hills and Sloan.

LADIES' GOLF.

Mrs. Harrop Wins Medal Pool At Deep Water Bay.

SEPTEMBER ACTIVITIES.

Mrs. Harrop qualified for the Captain's Cup for August at Happy Valley with a score of 99 less 80=69. The Medal Pool at Deep Water Bay was also won by Mrs. Harrop with a score of 88 less 27=33½.

A running Bogy Pool will be held at Deep Water Bay during September.

The Ladies' Annual Meeting at Deep Water Bay will be held on Tuesday, September 26. A Tombstone Competition will take place, also Approaching and Putting and Long Driving.

A running Medal Pool will take place on the New Course at Fanling during October.

FINDINGS OF SUB COMMITTEE

KOWLOON DOCKS IN DEFAULT

REFUSAL TO PLAY LAST SUNDAY

DECISION NEXT TUESDAY

(By "Veritas").

If the General Committee of the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls Association, which meets next Tuesday, endorses the decision of the sub-committee appointed to conduct the competitions, Craigengower Cricket Club will be awarded the Spey Royal Cup this year by default.

The sub-committee met at the Craigengower Cricket Club immediately after the final of the Singles Open Championship on Wednesday to enquire into the conduct of the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club in refusing to play off the final of the Spey Royal with Craigengower on Sunday last.

I understand that as a result of these deliberations, it was decided to recommend to the General Committee that Craigengower be awarded the Cup.

The circumstances of the incident are already known. The sub-committee appointed Sunday last as the date for the final. Kowloon Dock intimated that they were not willing to play on that date. They were subsequently informed that it was imperative they played the match on the day appointed by the sub-committee, but, I understand, the Dock replied that they would neither play on that Sunday nor any other Sunday.

ONLY ONE COURSE OPEN.

Confronted with such a position the sub-committee saw only one course open, and they consequently made the recommendation already quoted.

In coming to this decision, the sub-committee, I believe, took into cognisance the fact that Kowloon Dock had already played one Spey Royal match this year on a Sunday, and that they had established the precedent so far as the club was concerned two years ago.

Kowloon Dock did, in fact, play and defeat the Indian Recreation Club in the first round of the competition on Sunday, June 28.

It appears that the Dock have offered the sub-committee no definite reason why they should refuse to play the match on a Sunday.

The matter has not, of course, reached finality. Next Tuesday's meeting will decide whether or not the sub-committee's recommendation is appropriate.

FOREST DRAW & Q.P.R. WIN

London, Sept. 7.

Manchester United nearly obtained their first victory of the football season when they visited Notts Forest to-day, but they had to rest content with a point, both teams scoring once.

Queen's Park Rangers and Swindon met in the Third Division, the London club taking both points by the only goal scored.

Mrs. Wills-Moody Told to Rest

San Francisco, Sept. 7.

Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody is out of tennis for at least six months.

This information was made known to-day by her father, who emphasised that it was imperative that she does not touch a racket during that period.

The injury from which she is suffering is prone to recur under the strain of a competition, and she has therefore been strongly advised to forget tennis until next summer.

SHANGHAI LADIES MAY VISIT HERE

(By "Veritas").

There will be no men's Interport tennis match between Hongkong and Shanghai this year.

The Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association have reluctantly been compelled to notify Shanghai of their inability to send up either a men's or ladies' team this autumn.

There is, however, still a distinct possibility of Shanghai sending down a ladies' side to Hongkong about November.

When it was discovered that a visit by the Hongkong ladies to Shanghai was out of the question, the local L.T.A. extended an invitation to Shanghai to send a team here, and at the moment this is being considered by the Shanghai L.T.A.

The suggestion is that the team accompany the Shanghai Interport cricketers who are due in the early part of the winter.

SIRDAR INCAPACITATED.

High hopes were at first held out locally that Hongkong would be in the position to send up a first-class representative team, but unfortunately business calls prevented H. D. Rumjahn and several others from accepting the invitation.

In addition S. A. Rumjahn has been suffering from knee trouble for the past month, and he very naturally decided that he could not afford to take any risks with it, particularly as these would be increased by the severity of the Interport type of tennis.

In consequence, Shanghai retain the Taggart Cup for another year. Already this summer they have defeated Tientsin by five clear matches, and being unchallenged by Hongkong, they retain possession of the trophy.

THE SINGLES LEAGUE

CLUBS SLOW IN RESPONDING

So far clubs have been very slow in responding to the suggested establishment of a Singles Tennis League, and those who have not yet replied to the L. T. A. circular letter on this subject, asking for the opinions of clubs, are asked to do so forthwith, so that the Executive Committee can be properly guided as to the need of such a competition.

There has been a certain amount of support for the scheme, but as yet hardly sufficient to warrant such a competition.

It is therefore essential that the Association has before it the opinions of the whole of its members before making a decision.

A number of clubs have already replied in the negative, their grounds either being occupied for cricket during the suggested period for the league, or their players being engaged in other sports such as cricket, hockey, and football.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to HARRY HAINES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK HAIG, construction superintendent. He wants her to give up her job but she refuses. Eve does not want her employers to know she is married so they keep the marriage secret several months. At Christmas Eve announces it. They spend a brief vacation at the home of Eve's parents.

Back at the office MARYA VLAD, fashion artist, and ARLINE SMITH, stenographer, greet Eve excitedly. Eve knows that MONA ALLEN, the new copy writer, dislikes her and is trying to cause trouble for her.

Eve and Dick invite several friends to a New Year's party at their apartment. Shortly before time for the guests to arrive the telephone rings.

CHAPTER XVI

Eve cupped her hand over the telephone and turned to Dick. Her shoulders dropped.

"Dick," she said, "it's Mona Allen! She says her boy friend can't bring her and she wants me to send someone for her. What shall I tell her?"

"Tell her to stay at home," Dick answered with twinkling eyes.

Eve, nervous and tried, pleaded in a stage whisper for him to drive over for Miss Allen. "She says it's only in the 100 block, darling, and I hate to offend her for office reasons."

With a shrug he agreed. Later he had ample opportunity to regret the decision. He sat waiting in the reception room of the boarding house where Mona Allen lived for what seemed hours. However, when she finally came, Eve leaping. She looked childlike and her round blue eyes lifted in an innocent expression as she slipped along on her dainty spike heels to his roadster.

The other guests had all arrived

when Dick and Mona reached the apartment. Eve had been forced to receive them alone and Dick saw that she was displeased. Mona had scored once more and Eve resolved not to forget it.

But there was no time then to give to such thoughts. Eve turned to her other guests and sought to lift the restraint which seemed to her to be a long period of purely business contact. Their diffidence soon yielded to the charm of their surroundings, however. Eve had made the most of the spacious living room. Tall white cathedral tapers furnished the only illumination. The lovely, old ivory mantel was banded with evergreens and snowberries. At each end stood one of the low brass candelabra that were Irene Prentiss' wedding gift and lighted bayberry candles diffused their fragrance throughout the apartment, carrying the spirit of the holidays.

Before long three tables of bridge were in progress. Arlene assumed the leadership here but, try as Eve might, she was not able to persuade George Bliss to join the same group. Again it was Mona Allen who interfered with Eve's plans. It seemed Miss Allen told fortunes. At the time bridge was announced Bliss found his hand being stroked and a softly purring voice coaxed him to sit down and have his future predicted. Bridge was a poor bait in the face of that, Eve thought, as she watched the by-play and tried to help Arlene. Arlene, lovely in velvet of deep iris blue, kept watching the couple and had to be reminded often that it was her turn to play.

George Bliss had always felt that his was a sympathetic nature and an affectionate disposition, but he had not realized how much he craved companionship until this sort-voiced blonde girl in Chinese red, chiffon told him so. Bliss found himself confiding to Mona Allen some of his innermost thoughts, his likes and dislikes, even his thwarted ambitions and future plans. It required only a few artfully-put questions on her part, but he thought she read it all in his hand. With the greatest reluctance he relinquished his place to jolly Mr. Connors, super-salesman of electric appliances.

But Bliss remained within earshot of Miss Allen and could not be enticed far away, although she read the palms of half of those present. The others, she promised, she would read "the next time."

Marya was escorted by her fiancé, to whom she had been engaged for a year and a half. Eve found herself liking this young man instantly. She knew it was her plan that after marriage Marya should give up commercial art in order to paint more ambitiously. Ray had brought his violin and played selections from several operas. Marya, in violet crepe, smiled serenely whenever his glance swept hers.

Before 12 o'clock Eve and Dick served the buffet supper and the guests formed cozy groups about the small tables. Mona Allen, however, managed a tete-a-tete with Bliss at a tiny table for two.

A discussion of current events arose around the supper tables and Eve was proud of her well-informed husband. Dick was thoroughly read several technical magazines each month, had definite knowledge of scientific developments still in the formative stage. This wild, joyous peal of New Year bells cut in on their conversation.

"Happy New Year!" everyone cried out at once. Then there was silence as they paused to listen to the shrieking blasts of factory whistles. Somewhere a cannon went off into the night and Mona Allen arose and called out, "On with the dance!"

Before Dick could dial the radio to a suitable number Mona was in Bliss's arms and they were dancing gayly. Later Bliss escorted her home and Arlene's smile trembled a little when the couple left.

The guests had gone. Standing by the fireplace and looking wistfully at Dick, Eve said softly, "Love me?"

"Love you," declared Dick firmly, holding her close.

"Nice party?" asked Eve, running his hair with her slim fingers.

"Good party," he agreed and kissed her smooth forehead.

"Then you don't mind about the antiques, do you dear?"

"They're nice, of course, but I didn't know you intended to buy them and I wondered just what you were going to use for money."

Eve's manner froze. She had not expected this. "I'll pay for them," she answered flippantly.

"I'm afraid you'll have to, Eve," answered Dick frankly. "You see the car needs overhauling and I planned to have it painted, too."

"That's a good idea. I've been ashamed of that car for a long time," Eve interrupted.

"And there's my insurance due in January," Dick went on, "besides the amount I will need to save out for the future."

"Save—save—save! If I had a lot of money I'd spend—spend—spend," Eve answered. "I don't see why we have to save all the time."

"Well, you may some day," Dick answered. "And maybe because of saving now you will be able to spend—spend—spend later. I'd enjoy that myself. Well, thank heaven, the rent is paid anyway!"

But of course it was not paid. Eve had spent the money. Antique dealers do not customarily ship furniture to strangers until it has been paid for. Hence it was up to Eve to pay the rent from her own salary. And her entire cheque should have been applied on her account at Bixby's that month.

She saw no way clear but to do the one thing for which Dick would never have forgiven her. She went to Mrs. Brooks and explained that, without his knowledge, she had spent the money Dick had given her for the rent. She arranged to pay one-fourth of the amount each week during the month from her salary. Eve was forced to trust Mrs. Brooks' discretion, yet she was often uneasy when she considered that the landlady might inadvertently let Dick or some one else know what had happened. She could only hope Mrs. Brooks would keep her secret.

Her account at Bixby's remained a problem. It was fortunate for her that Dick had never asked Eve what became of her earnings. So far since her marriage it had taken all she could accumulate to pay for her trousseau. This, too, she would never want Dick to know, since he shared her father's aversion to going into debt for finery.

This was January, 1929. It was well for Eve that she did not know what the year ahead had in store for her and Dick, of the rift one short year would bring in their marriage.

For weeks an absorbing topic of interest, the "trunk murder mystery" reached an unexpected climax when Patricio Remedios confessed that he had murdered Mary Chun, the girl whose body was found in the trunk. In the centre of the picture above is shown the trunk in which the body was found from Shanghai to Kobe, and spread out in front of it are the cotton bedcover and articles of clothing in which the remains were wrapped. Below the trunk is a photograph of the young confessed murderer, Patricio Remedios, in the top left-hand corner his victim, and in the top right-hand corner his brother Eulilio, whom his statement would clear. In the lower corners are shown Detective Sub-inspector F. J. Willis (left) and Sub-inspector H. Willgoose, of the S. M. Police, who had unravelled the baffling case after weeks of tireless investigation.

Ideas about ties vary, but opinion is almost unanimous concerning the most pleasant place to choose the sort of ties men like to wear. For, as the accepted headquarters for good ties, Mackintosh's introduce new patterns practically every week... exclusive patterns expressing the latest ideas that are current in the West End of London... with the number of ties in each pattern deliberately restricted.

ALLEGED DANGEROUS DRIVING

SEQUEL TO MOTORING FATALITY

Arising out of an accident on Wednesday on the Pokfulam Road when an old man, was knocked down by a motor lorry, and died of his injuries, Li Wing, driver of the lorry, appeared before Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, charged on three counts of dangerous driving, having ineffective brakes and carrying an excessive load.

Defendant pleaded guilty to the second and third charges but denied the dangerous driving count.

Traffic-Sub-Inspector Saunders said the lorry was driven down Pokfulam Road near the No. 7, Police Station, and on turning into Queen's Road West, knocked down Wong Fung. He died later in the hospital. The vehicle was examined and the brakes were found to

AMERICA'S LEADING TENNIS STARS TOPPLE IN CHAMPIONSHIP

VINES SENSATION

IN GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT

THREE SETS TO GRANT

MERRY WINS

Forest Hills, Sept. 7. The process of dethroning Vines from the position of being the world's best player, actually started back Crawford in Australia last year, was completed when the holder of the U.S. States title, and former Wimbledon champion was ousted and beaten by Bryan Grant in the fourth round of the American National Championship.

There has been no bigger sensation in tennis since the first class tennis since the late 19th century when the late Henri Cochet in 1924 round at Wimbledon in the final.

Grant is the smallest in the tournament, and won his versatility. He attacked backhand with mixed volleys. Vines was not and did not play anything but a straight game.

Grant, ranked No. 13 in the pre-American list, and No. 12 in the world, won the title in 1931 and 1932 respectively, and the tall Grant for three sets, beating Vines 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

This was not the only shock of this programme.

QUIST'S FEAT.

Satcho, Wimbledon semi-finalist, was eliminated by Gregory in the first round. A five set match, while Quist, the Australian, played his finest performance since leaving Australia this year, by accounting for Wilmer Allison, No. 2 ranking in the States, in straight sets and with the loss of only six games.

Crawford got through after a two-hour battle with Sydney Wood, who took him to four sets in the final, and won the final fourteen games in the final.

Shields got through comfortably against Nuiol.

MCGRATH LEADS.

In a match between McGrath and Clifford Sutter was brought to a halt by darkness with McGrath leading 3-1 in the final set. Crawford will play the survivor on Monday.

The quarter-finals will see the clash as follows:

Grant v. Stoeffen
Perry v. A. Quist
Shields v. G. Mangin
Wood v. McGrath or Sutter

Vines apparently suffered a stroke similar to that experienced by Austin in the Davis Cup.

Nine games were all he could play.

SATCHO ALWAYS TRAILING.

Mangin was always a set ahead of Satcho, winning the first and second sets, and although it was generally expected that the Japanese would repeat his performance of the previous day once he had slipped up in the fourth set, it proved to be otherwise. Mangin turned the fifth set losing but won the sixth.

Quiet was dazzling against Satcho, who never recovered from an indifferent start. The Australian literally ran away with the match, conceding one game in the first set, three in the second and two in the third.

I. G. N. Lee was rather disappointing against the giant Stoeffen. The American's whirlwind service followed up by a steady volleying campaign, completely broke up Lee's game. The glissman lost the first set to Stoeffen, and although winning four games in each of the next two sets, he was not capable of extending his lead.

Perry went close to defeat in his match against Gledhill. The American played cleverly to regain the ground after Perry had won the first set, and he succeeded to the extent of capturing the subsequent two sets.

But Perry refused to be rattled, and calling up his reserves made short work of the fourth and fifth sets.

Scores as supplied by Reuter.

U. S. CHAMPIONSHIP.

Fourth Round

Bryan Grant (U. S.) beat

Ellsworth Vines (holder) 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

CONSCRIPTION IN CHINA

Constructive Criticism By Chinese Paper.

Commenting on the reports that the Government has decided to enforce the Conscription Law in certain experimental areas in the provinces, the Sin Wen Pao, in an editorial states that though called Conscription, the system provided by the Law was really one of recruitment.

"According to the National Conscription Law," the journal continues, "our military system is divided into two classifications, namely, (1) citizens' army, and (2) standing army. The latter, it should be noted, is formed on the basis of individual qualifications, age limitations, and personal choice. In other words, the members of the standing army are recruited from among the people who are able to meet these requirements."

"Continuing, the journal recalls the deplorable results achieved by the Ching Dynasty in its effort to reform the national military system. The chief defect was that as soon as the period of active military service expired, the soldiers were put on the reserve list and given only a nominal allowance. The men being thus thrown on their own resources, they became a nuisance to the community at large. The reason, however, was due to the fact that the men while in active service were not given training in any vocation so that after discharge from military service they might have a means of livelihood."

Referring to the reports that the Government has decided to demarcate certain provinces for an experiment in national conscription, the Sin Wen Pao states that for years past the majority of our soldiers have been recruited from the provinces of Chihli, Shantung, Honan, Hunan and Anhwei. In fact, the practice has become such a common one that most of the able-bodied men in these provinces now look to enlistment in the army as a means of livelihood.

Therefore, the journal points out, in trying out the new conscription system, the Government should leave out the above-mentioned provinces. Moreover, the Government should also try to train the recruits in some useful occupation so that after their discharge from active service they may be able to earn a living and not become a burden on the community. Furthermore, the number of men to be enlisted should depend on the financial condition of the Government. A way should be devised to avoid too heavy a drain on the Government Treasury without reducing the efficiency of our national army.

NAVAL RACE NOW INEVITABLE

JAPAN TO BUILD UP TO RATIO

Tokyo, Sept. 3. Following the report that the U.S. Secretary of Navy Mr. Claude A. Swanson has signed contracts for building 32 warships, the Naval Office here stated to-day that Japan will be forced to build more warships before 1936 though she does not desire building competition because of the stringent financial situation.

Before the American Navy started building, Japanese Naval leaders were somewhat doubtful as to Japanese plans, the Naval Office spokesman stated. However, the Japanese Navy says the American attitude is now clear, and a building race will result.

In case of war, he added, Japan can not fight with "Japanese spirit" alone but needs warships. Since the United States and Great Britain started to bring their naval forces to the ratio of 5-5-3 before 1936, it will be very dangerous for Japan to have a poor navy the spokesman added.

In conclusion, the spokesman said that the Navy will seek approval for the second naval replenishment programme for the next fiscal year.—United Press.

G. Mangin (U. S.) beat J. Satcho (Japan) 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 4-3, 6-2.

L. R. Stoeffen (U. S.) beat H. G. N. Lee (Australia) 6-0, 6-4, 6-4.

A. Quist (Australia) beat W. Allison (U. S.) 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

F. J. Perry (Britain) beat K. Gledhill (U. S.) 6-2, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3.

F. X. Shields (U. S.) beat R. Nuiol (Japan) 7-5, 6-2, 6-3.

J. Crawford (Australia) beat Sydney Wood (U. S.) 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6.

McGrath (Australia) leads C. Sutter (U. S.) 6-3, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 3-1.

OFFENDING MOTORISTS

Increase in Fine for Dangerous Driving

Several Europeans figured in traffic offences before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning.

Mr. D. G. C. Middelburg of the Netherlands Consulate, summoned for driving a private car past a stationary tram in Queen's Road, East, on August 17 was fined $15. Traffic Inspector Alexander said that a military officer with his wife and daughter, were about to cross the road opposite the dockyard to board the tram, when defendant's car drove past.

NO APPROPRIATE DISCS.

Dr. E. C. Humphreys was fined $5 for having failed to exhibit an appropriate licence disc, while Mr. N. Drummond, Mr. F. R. Birch and Mr. J. M. Morhaus were also fined $5 each for the same offence.

Mrs. H. Owen Hughes summoned for having driven a private car up Wyndham Street was fined $10.

Sergeant Danbrowsky said that the car was driven right up to the Dairy Farm.

MAGISTRATE'S WARNING.

Lau Ping-pui, the driver of a private car, was fined $25 for having driven dangerously in Whitfield.

Traffic Inspector Alexander said that the defendant was speeding in Whitfield and overtook a tram.

Mr. Schofield remarked that in future he would increase the fine for dangerously driving, as recently there appeared to be a number of instances of this offence. He thought that a fine of $25 was not enough to deter people.

NEW CHINESE HOTEL

LICENCE GRANTED ON CONDITIONS

Upon completion of the big new Chinese Hotel at 67-77, Gloucester Road, Wanchai, to which the name of Luk Kok Hotel has been given, an application was made by Chun Chuk-yin for an hotel-keeper's licence.

Appearing for the applicant, Mr. P. M. Hodgson, of Messrs. Ta'o & Hodgson, informed the Board that certain fire requirements resulting from an inspection by the Fire Brigade has been completed, and other readjustments were being carried out to meet the wishes of the authorities in the matter.

Mr. C. G. Pordue, A.S.P., said that tests had been carried out. The Chairman: Subject to the certificate of the Chief Officer of the Fire Brigade that these requirements have been carried out, a licence will be granted until the end of the current year.

POLICE OFFICER ACCOSTED

PERSISTENT RICKSHAW COOLIE

A fine of $50 or six weeks' imprisonment was imposed on Ng To, 30, licensed rickshaw driver, when he pleaded guilty before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning to a charge of soliciting for prostitution.

"There is a lot of this going on round about the Hongkong Hotel, Chater Road and the Post Office. They pick up men and take them to brothels and also keep a watch for police raids," said Detective Inspector Baker, who was solicited by the defendant last night.

Inspector Baker said he was in Chater Road on a special job and was standing near the pillars when the defendant came up with his rickshaw and accosted him. Defendant persisted and came back five times. The Inspector beckoned to an Indian constable and had the man arrested.

Defendant stated he had been in the Colony before but returned to the country. He came back ten days ago. There were licensed prostitutes in the Staunton Street area before, he added.

Charged with keeping a brothel at 17, Graham Street and 20, Sai Street, respectively, two Chinese women, one aged 60 years, were fined $75 each by Mr. Wynne-Jones, who applied the usual closure order.

BIG HAUL OF HEROIN PILLS

PROPERTY SEIZED IN QUEEN'S ROAD

Brought before Mr. Schofield this morning on a charge of the possession of over 30,000 heroin pills Fu Foon, was remanded for seven days on bail of $2,500.

R. O. Grimmit, said 74, Queen's Road West, third floor, was raided and consequent on a report, a raid was also conducted on the ground floor of 71, Queen's Road West, where certain property was seized. The tenant had absconded.

Mr. J. T. Prior watched in the interests of the missing man, regarding recovery of the property seized.

WEAKNESS OF GERMAN BONDS

London, Sept. 7. When the Stock Exchange today closed the main feature was the weakness of German bonds under the lead of potash, seven per cent, which lost five points, at 80 on an uncertain outlook. British funds kept firm with war loan, 3½ per cent, at 100½. Kaffirs were generally steady. Of the home group, motor shares finished appreciably higher.

DEFENDANT ON DUTY OF POLICE

INDECENT LANGUAGE TO A CONSTABLE

"It is the duty of the police to protect the public and not to make false accusations and assault people," remarked Chan Ming-hong, who was convicted by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on charges of riding a push bicycle in circles in Percival Street and using indecent language to a constable who arrested him.

Mr. Schofield remarked that it was a genuine case, and he had brought no witnesses to support him.

Defendant was fined $10 on the first charge and $5 on the second.

BRITAIN PLANS NEW WARSHIPS

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRAMME URGED

London, Sept. 4. It was reliably reported to-day that the government will urge on the next parliament a substantial naval building programme, providing for numerous new ships to be constructed in the next five years.

It was understood that Britain intends to increase naval personnel by 10,000 to accommodate the expansion in tonnage.

The British move is understood to be forthcoming as a result of the naval building programmes announced or begun by the United States and Japan.

CHINA'S JAPANESE POLICY

SOONG INTERVIEWS HUANG FU

Tokyo, Sept. 4. According to official information which reached here to-day Mr. T. V. Soong, Chinese Finance Minister who has just returned from abroad, approved the measures taken by General Huang Fu, chairman of the Peking Political Council, in dealing with affairs in north China. However, their interviews, it is said, reveal a difference of opinion regarding the policy to be pursued toward Japan.—Reuter.

PRISON REVOLT IN BASRAH

Basrah, Sept. 3. Seven prisoners were killed and twenty wounded in a civil prison here to-day when the authorities were compelled to fire on a section which had attacked the guards with stones and bottles, overpowering some of them and capturing their rifle.—Reuter.

JAPAN TO SAVE ALL JEWRY

League Forerunner of Anti-Christ

ALL PREORDAINED

Tokyo, Sept. 4. Japan has been preordained to deliver the Jews from oppression and lead them back to the Promised Land, and the League of Nations is the forerunner of the Anti-Christ.

Such, in brief, is the somewhat startling conclusion to which Bishop Nakada, of the Japan Holy Church, has been led by his study of the Bible. Such, too, is the doctrine expounded by him in a booklet just published under the title of "An Unknown Nation."

Passages from Isaiah and the Book of Revelations form the basis of his reasonings and his assertions on the first point, for he identifies Japan with the "nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee" (Isaiah 65:5) and with the "angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God," mentioned in the seventh chapter of the Book of Revelations.

"FROM THE SUNRISING."

He points out, in regard to this second quotation that, in the Revised Version, "from the east" is translated "from the sunrising," in other words "from the land of" the Rising Sun, namely Japan. The "four angels standing on the four corners of the earth," mentioned in the same passage, he identifies with "the four great races of Anglo-Saxons, Latins, Slavs and Teutons," and asserts that the passage in question can only be construed as foretelling a final world war, terminating in the national restoration of the Jewish people through the instrumentality of the people of the Land of the Rising Sun, (the "unknown nation" mentioned by Isaiah) which will be forced to restrain the warning nations "in the vicinity of Bagdad."

THE ANTI-CHRIST.

In developing this thesis and emphasising the great mission preordained in the Bible for Japan, Bishop Nakada stresses the fact that "among the Five Great Powers of the World to-day, Japan alone has never persecuted the Jews." In view, moreover, of the very little contact she has ever had with the Jewish people, she can well be described as "a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee."

While identifying Japan in this way, Bishop Nakada expresses his conviction that the League of Nations is of a kind that says, "Peace, peace, when there is no peace," and that ultimately it will "be controlled by one man, the Anti-Christ, who will be the leading figure during the time of this great tribulation."

JAPAN'S "DIVINE SANCTION."

The whole world, he points out, is to meet with tremendous adversities and sufferings during the years of tribulation foretold in the scriptures, but the greatest sufferings will be the Jews. Finally, however, will come a mighty nation with the allotted task of gathering the scattered Jews together from the four corners of the earth and delivering them; and she, it will be, who will expose the true character of the anti-Christ. "A great world war will break out during the time of tribulation, and it is then that the divine sanction will be given to Japan to suppress the white peoples (who have for so long persecuted the Jews) and enable the Jews to return to their native land, Palestine."

GOD-APPOINTED DUTY.

By no means, however, will Japan do this to assist the Caucasian races, he asserts, but it will be the God-appointed duty of Japan to help the Jews in the re-establishment of their own state, "which cannot be done otherwise." This duty, he declares, cannot be given to any European or American nation, because they have persecuted the Jews in the past. It will, therefore, be given to Japan, "the land of the sun-rising" mentioned in Revelations.

It is because all this has been preordained, according to Bishop Nakada, that permanent world peace can never be attained through such organisations as the League of Nations or through any other purely human efforts. Not in fact, until the Bible prophecies have been fulfilled by the deliverance of the Jews, through the agency of Japanese arms will "war be made to cease throughout the World" and the Millennium be ushered in.—Reuter.

KEY TO PEACE OF WORLD

ROOSEVELT AND HITLER

NORMAN DAVIS'S TASK.

Washington, Sept. 3.

President Roosevelt is convinced that Chancellor Adolph Hitler holds the key to a successful disarmament treaty, it was learned in official circles here to-day and Mr. Norman Davis, the President's Ambassador-at-Large, is going to Europe at an early date to persuade the Chancellor to agree to the MacDonald formula.

Without full German agreement which must be preceded by the elimination of fear and suspicion, the plan for international supervision of armaments will not be acceptable by many other powers, the President is reported to have said in Hyde Park before departing on the cruise along the New England coast.

The German attitude on armament inspection and supervision was the principal subject discussed by the President and Mr. Davis.

GERMAN SUSPICIONS.

Official reports have reached Washington that German officials have become so suspicious and fearful of foreign aggression they are trusting nobody. It has come to the point that when the United States approves a suggestion made by France, Great Britain or Italy, Germany suspects a united move to thwart the Reich's national advancement.

To remove this suspicion, the President instructed Mr. Davis to assure Germany that the United States was never eager to have international supervision of armaments but is willing to accept the proposal to make the Disarmament Conference a success.

INCREASED NAVIES.

Until a few days ago it was supposed that Japan was the only nation that looked upon the American naval building programme as actual expansion. Now, however, the Government has reports to the effect that many in Germany see a menace in that programme also. Many Germans are represented as feeling that the Navy Department's order for 32 new ships is the forerunner of a gigantic programme by the United States, Great Britain and France.

Other European nations view the building programme as a normal sequence to the London Conference which actually restricted building.

To bring Germany to this point of view, is Mr. Davis' task and President Roosevelt and the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, are convinced that, if he can do it, France and Russia will accept the British general disarmament proposals.

GERMANY RE-ARMING.

The Administration also let it be known that it has discounted many of the whispered reports that Germany is re-arming on a large scale. Some of these reports are to the effect that machine guns, tanks and infantry equipment are being manufactured secretly and in large quantities. The Administration holds with the British authorities, that Germany should disprove the reports and that the proposed international supervision would prevent such rumours if it were adopted.

Mr. Cordell Hull was represented as believing that Mr. Davis has an enormous task, but that there is a reasonable chance of success.

FOREIGNER'S ARREST BY MANCHUKUO

SCHOOLMASTER WITH KUOMINTANG BOOKS

Harbin, Sept. 4. Details have just been received here of the arrest of a foreign missionary by the Manchukuo authorities at Heilungkiang last week.

According to an official report issued to-day, the principal nationality and name not given; but possibly a Dane) of the Methodist Mission School at Pichuan, about 160 miles north of Harbin, was arrested on August 31, following a search of the school premises, when Kuomintang and anti-Japanese textbooks were found, notwithstanding previous protests and official requests to discontinue using such book.—Reuter.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

If games and slams were bid only when they could be made against the best defence, contract would lose much of its thrill. A player who never bids more than the cards guarantee is far too conservative, for he fails to allow for the human element. Good defence is difficult, and the most skillful opponents sometimes fall short of perfection.

Probably the most interesting hands in the game are those in which the declarer has overbid slightly, and requires just a little help from his opponents to make the contract. Here we find a true battle of wits, with the opponents trying to discover the perfect defence which will beat the contract, and the declarer doing his best to conceal it from them.

The Bidding

To-day's hand was played in a rubber game, with North and South vulnerable. East and West not vulnerable. South opened with one heart, West passed, and North bid one spade, preferring to make a one-over-one force rather than to assist the hearts immediately. East bid two diamonds, South two hearts and North four hearts, which closed the bidding.

The Play

West opened with the eight of diamonds in response to his partner's bid, and East won with the king. South unhesitatingly played the nine of diamonds to the first trick, carefully concealing the three. The eight was presumably

♠ K-Q-5-2	♥ 10-8-7-2	♦ 10-5	♣ A-Q-J
♠ J-10-8-7-6	♥ J	♦ 8-6	♣ 10-9-7-4-2
♠ A-4-3	♥ A-K-Q-9-4	♦ Q-9-3	♣ 6-3

West's highest diamond, so the declarer knew that East could immediately mark him (South) with the queen and nine. To play the three at this point would expose the fact that he held at least three diamonds.

East followed with the ace of diamonds, on which South played the queen and West the six, and this gave East a difficult guess. The fall of the cards indicated that South had no more diamonds, and that West held the missing three spot, for if he held 8, 6, 3 originally he would play them in that order. A careless East player might have led his singleton spade, hoping West would have the ace and return the suit for a ruff.

However, a moment's thought about the bidding would make it clear that South must hold the ace of spades and five practically solid hearts, for otherwise he could not have opened the bidding and then re-bid his heart suit. In that case the only trick remaining for East and West would be the king of clubs, and that would not be sufficient to defeat the contract.

There also existed the faint possibility that South had false-carded in the diamond suit, and West's singleton heart was an honour that could over-ruff dummy. West grasped at this possibility like a drowning man at a straw, and it proved to be the actual situation. He was later able to make his king of clubs, thereby defeating the contract one trick.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

MARCEL CAFE LICENCE

RAISED AT MEETING OF BOARD

The absence of Mr. N. Blumenthal, licensee of the Marcel Cafe, Kowloon, was queried by the Licensing Board this morning consequent on attention being drawn to the matter by the Police authorities.

It was stated that when the absence of Mr. Blumenthal was questioned, it was explained that he was ill in Japan. The business in the meantime was being looked after by his son.

Mr. Perdue D.S.P., recommended a temporary transfer of the licence to the son. The position, however, was that a condition of the licence having been broken, the premises were liable to be closed down. The son had at no time made an application for a transfer.

The Chairman said he was prepared to recommend to the Board that if the son desired the licence to be transferred to himself, it should be so transferred, subject to payment of expenses incident to the transfer.

Mr. Blumenthal, Jr., was called before the meeting, and he gave "misunderstanding" as an explanation of his delay in applying for a transfer.

The Chairman: You must be able to close the premises down in the absence of the licensee. Are you prepared to apply for transfer of the licence in your own name until the end of the year?

The applicant signified his readiness to take up the transfer.

The Chairman: Subject to your getting a transfer of the licence you may carry on. You must understand that you are the licensee and that you must not go away from the Colony without permission of the Board. You will now apply to the Secretary for the transfer of the licence.

The following members of the Licensing Board were present:

TROUBLE

"If a person is being arrested and resists arrest, and refuses to come to the Station, it is the duty of the Police to use sufficient force to bring him up. You are not to interfere with them," remarked Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning when he imposed a fine of $25 on Lee Hi, mess contractor aboard the s.s. Tung On, for obstructing Constable Yeung Yee in the execution of his duty in Rumsay Street.

The constable, it was stated, was arresting a Chinese woman for hawking congee without a licence, and defendant interfered. Defendant took the officer's hand off the woman.

Defendant—I only told the constable not to twist the old woman's hand. She refused to go to the station and I was afraid he might hurt her.

Inspector Brennan remarked the woman did not complain at all of being hurt.

The magistrate asked the woman what she meant by creating the trouble, and she replied she did not want to be arrested as she was not earning enough.

The magistrate: I have seen some of you women arrested and I have seen some of the trouble you make. You lie down on the road...you scream.
She was fined $4.

PROMINENT INDUSTRIALIST

DEATH OF SIR
G. VYLE

London, Sept. 7.

The death occurred to-day of Sir Gilbert Vyle, aged 63, a prominent industrialist, who was Chairman of the British Preparatory Committee to the Ottawa Conference, and was an ex-President of the British Chamber of Commerce—British Wireless.

Sir Gilbert was managing director of Messrs. W. T. Avery, Ltd., and Associated Companies, as well as chairman and director of several other important industrial concerns.

He was the son of Samuel Vyle of Haverford West, who organised the first public electricity station in England.

TRAINED AS ENGINEER.

Sir Gilbert was trained as an electrical engineer, and joined H. M. Service, being first attached to the engineering branch of the Post Office. Subsequently he went to the Colonial Office and served abroad.

When he returned to England he became engaged in the manufacture of electrical apparatus, later practising as Consulting Industrial Engineer in Manchester, and being eventually engaged in industrial work in Birmingham.

He took a close interest in labour and commercial questions.

DESIGNED AIRCRAFT.

He organised the manufacture and design of aircraft for the Admiralty, Army and later the Air Force, and also the production of Mine Sinks, Projectiles, and Munition Factory Equipment.

He served on innumerable committees and bodies, was one time Chairman of the British Committee of Empire Trade, and acted as industrial adviser at the Ottawa Economic Conference.

He was the author of many articles and issued a memorandum on Export Trade, Finance, Education and Postal Matters.
